Exterminate Every Jew Is Guard Threat

Germans Resent Article Suggesting U.S. Killers be Freed From Prison to Get Fuehrer and Aides

BERLIN, Nov. 30. — Das Schwarze Korps, organ of Chancellor Hitler's black guards, warned last night an attack by a Jew on any leading man in Germany would bring immediate liquidation of every German Jew.

"On the day a Jewish or Jewish-purchased murder weapon is lifted against one of the leading men in Germany there will be no more Jews in Germany," Das Schwarze Korps said. "We hope we have expressed ourselves clearly enough."

The publication cited a letter appearing in a United States paper which suggested a number of condemned murderers be freed in order to go to Germany to remove leaders of the Nazis.

(On Nov. 22 the New York Daily News printed a letter in its "Voice of the People column" signed by "Max Rosenberg" which said, "I move that instead of going to war as a nation against Hitler, Goering and Goebbels, we call for 10 or 12 volunteers from among life-term professional killers now in prison, and offer them their freedom in exchange for 'getting' Hitler & Co., plus enough money to live comfortably for the rest of thier lives.")

German Spies In U.S. Found Guilty Stealing Secrets Of Military

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Red-haired Johanna Hofmann, German ship hairdresser, and Otto Hermann Voss, airplane mechanic, were convicted by a federal court jury last night of conspiring to steal military secrets of the United States.

Otto H. Voss

Unable to reach a verdict on the case of a co-defendant, Erich Glaser, former United States army air corps private, the jury retired at midnight with instructions to resume deliberations at 10 a.m. today.

The 26-year-old hairdresser received the verdict without show of emotion although she apparently had been weeping in an ante room while waiting for the jury to report.

The verdict was announced after four hours, 25 minutes of deliberation on the testimony that ran through seven weeks of trial.

An hour before the verdict, the jury interrupted its proceedings for the third time whether a recommendation for leniency would be entertained.

"You must find the defendants guilty or not guilty," Judge John C. Knox told them, "and if you find them guilty and wish to add a recommendation of mercy I shall be glad to receive it."

GOVERNMENT OF B. C. LOSES IN OIL ACTION

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30—British Columbia government and oil companies alike today awaited trial of validity of the government's ordered reduction in the retail price of gasoline through the province. The case has been set for supreme court chambers Jan. 9.

Yesterday British Columbia motorists saw their immediate hopes of cheaper motor fuel go glimmering when the provincial appeal court dismissed the crown's appeal from a supreme court injunction restraining the government putting into effect its three to six cent a gallon reduction on gasoline.

Whatever the supreme court decision may be, validity of the petroleum board order will probably be finally determined before the privy council in England.

FASCIST CHIEF, 13 OTHERS ARE PUT TO DEATH

BUCHAREST, Nov. 30—Corneliu Codreanu, 39-year-old Rumanian Fascist leader, and 13 others serving prison terms for treason with him, were killed today as Rumanian authorities struck at terrorism attributed to Codreanu's outlawed Iron Guard organization.

An official statement said the 14 men were killed while attempting to escape from Rumnik-Sarat prison 10 miles from Bucharest and added they were buried in the prison cemetery this morning.

The deaths were expected to bring police and the government to a definite showdown in their energetic and long-standing effort to suppress the Fascist group.

SIR JOHN AIRD DIES SUDDENLY AT AGE OF 83

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—Sir John Aird, former president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, died suddenly at his home here today. A heart attack was given as the cause of death.

For 40 years an outstanding banker, Sir John celebrated his 83rd birthday Nov. 15. Since retiring from the presidency of the bank early in 1937 his health had been comparatively good.

In retirement he retained a directorship in the Bank of Commerce, which first employed him when he was 23.

Sir John had anticipated attending the annual ball tonight of the St. Andrew's Society, of which he was a past president. Society officials announced the ball would not be cancelled. They said they had been assured by Hugh Aird, a son, it would have been his father's wish.

He is survived by Lady Aird, two sons and two daughters.

TODAY'S ODDEST NEWS

DALE, Ind., Nov. 30.—After 12 months of the "honor system," this town of 770 persons has fallen back on a town marshal for law enforcement. The town did away with the marshal's job last December. Then burglars began breaking into trucks, thieves stole everything that wasn't tied down, reckless drivers went wild and fire insurance rates increased.

Now citizens are looking forward to a peaceful Christmas—the town board hired a new marshal.

$30,000 Approved For Relief Aid By Cabinet Council

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—Cabinet council has approved an appropriation of $30,000 as a relief grant for Prince Edward Island to provide flour and other food staples for needy fishermen, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night after a cabinet meeting.

In accordance with the regular arrangement between the Dominion and the fishing provinces, Prince Edward Island has an allotment this year of $50,000 from the Dominion fisheries department to aid the fishing industry. The provincial government, under the arrangement, is obligated to set up a supplementary fund of $25,000, so the new direct relief grant, if approved by the cabinet, will mean a total fund of $105,000 available this year for Prince Edward Island fisheries.

Premier Aberhart Arrives In Ottawa To See Dunning

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—Premier William Aberhart of Alberta arrived in Ottawa today and will probably confer this afternoon with Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, on the problem of refunding Alberta's $160,000,000 provincial debt.

Mr. Aberhart, in the east several days, reached Ottawa at noon. He is accompanied by Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, and Frank Percival, the premier's chief deputy.

Armed Display Wins Daladier's Big Fight

Employees Of Public Service Remain At Their Posts—Stores, Banks, Offices Stay Open

PARIS, Nov. 30.—Premier Daladier's nation-wide display of force appeared today to have broken the back of organized labor's one-day general strike in protest against his administration. After some early morning hesitation, public service workers in Paris and most other cities took their posts under military guard.

The ministry of interior announced police were using stern measures to put down strikes in private industry. The announcement said 495 persons in the Paris region alone had been arrested for attempting to keep workers from their posts.

The Subway Workers' Union in Paris conceded defeat and revoked its strike order at 8 a.m. (1 a.m. M.S.T.), four hours after the strike started.

Railroads throughout France and busses in Paris and most other cities were running on regular schedules by noon. All other public services in Paris appeared normal.

Public services were the field in which Daladier had chosen to fight out the strike battle.

Loses His Shirt

LONDON, Nov. 30. — Mrs. Neville Chamberlain said today that she is sending one of the Prime Minister's old shirts to America by request. She did not name the souvenir hunter.

"If it gets about that I am giving away his clothes there would be no end to it," she confided. "Why, he would very soon have no clothes left."

Abstaining from politics, the Premier's wife ignored insinuations that, figuratively speaking, Mr. Chamberlain lost his shirt at Munich.

THREE INJURED WHEN HIDDEN BOMB EXPLODES

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 30—Rocco Perri, who once styled himself "King of the Bootleggers," and two companions were injured late last night when a time bomb hidden in Perri's auto exploded as he stepped on the starter.

The car was blown to bits and the wreckage burst into flames. Perri was thrown clear and escaped with burns about the face and hands. Seriously injured were Frank Depedro, 47, and Fred Cordello, 41, both of Hamilton. They are in hospital here.

SIMON WANTS BIG SUM FOR DEFENCE WORK

Informs Britain Four Hundred Million Pounds Needed

LONDON, Nov. 30.—Sir John Simon Tuesday told the House of Commons he wants power to borrow an unspecified sum next year for armaments, in addition to the £400,000,000 ($1,860,000,000) loan authorized by the defence loan of 1936.

The house was unofficially believed ready to give the chancellor of the exchequer a blank cheque for any amount he wished to borrow as Britain rushes ahead with her vast defence program.

NO DETAILS GIVEN

Sir John did not go into details of the amount he will seek authorization to borrow but said that of the £400,000,000 already authorized, the government has actually borrowed £180,000,000.

"Therefore," he said, "some £220,000,000 still remains available for use after the end of the financial year, so authority for borrowing is not one of immediate urgency.

"I think that at the time when new commitments are being incurred, we should prepare our plans well in advance. At the time of the introduction of the Defence Loans Act, it was stated that the limit of £400,000,000 was by no means final but could be modified by special act of parliament."

MORE MONEY REQUIRED

"In view of further expenditure on defence preparations now contemplated, I have come to the conclusion that some further borrowing powers will be needed and it is my intention at the appropriate time next year to ask parliament to pass legislation to that purpose."

It was undisclosed how much the government intends to spend on arms, but the present rate of purchase is about £1,000,000 a day.

LENI RIEFENSTAHL
One of the few women whose names are linked romantically—and regularly—with that of Adolf Hitler, beauteous Leni Riefenstahl, screen actress and directress, is pictured as she landed in New York aboard the Europa to show Americans her film of the 1936 Olympics.

Hollywood Turns Icicle For Leni From Berlin

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—Leni Riefenstahl, German actress, sportswoman and motion picture producer, who came here to visit winter resorts, felt the chill today of local opinion and retorted. "I am surprised."

The attractive dark-haired woman issued a formal statement in reply to an advertisement in a film trade paper by the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, which proclaimed: "There is no room in Hollywood for Leni Riefenstahl."

The Anti-Nazi League, through its executive secretary, Elizabeth Anderson, explained that it was not against Leni as an individual. "To us she is only a symbol," said Miss Anderson.

JAPS AND BRITISH AMICABLY SETTLE ARMY INCIDENTS

HONG KONG, Nov. 30—The Japanese consulate announced last night Japanese and British authorities had reached an amicable settlement of an incident cropping out of military operations along the borders of this British crown colony.

The consulate said a Japanese commander furnished an explanation of the crossing of the colony border by a Japanese force and the raising of the Japanese flag on British soil last Saturday.

"The British accepted the explanation," the consulate said, "and the incident is regarded closed as far as the Japanese and British armies are concerned."

Roads into Hong Kong were still clogged with Chinese refugees carrying household goods and herding livestock in flight from Japanese mop-up operations southeast of Canton.

PRAGUE, Nov. 30.—Dr. Emil Hacha, formerly head of the supreme court administration, was elected president of Czechoslovakia by the National Assembly today. Being the only candidate, his election was mere formality.

CANADA MUST SECURE WORLD WHEAT MARKET

Otherwise Prairies Will Not be Able to Support Existing Population

OTTAWA, Nov. 30. — Unless Canada blasts a place for western wheat in world markets, the prairies will not be able to support their existing population on a Canadian standard of living, Prof. Jacob Viner, of the University of Chicago, declared today before the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations.

Subsidies would be a kind of alternative to new markets but would be no real solution, he said, and Canada had no unlimited revenue sources from which to support its wheat.

WARNING SIGNALS

The warning signals had been given far back in the last century. He claimed "the people of the prairies were drawn in on the basis of prospects grossly exaggerated." Once in, with their savings invest-

UNITY POLICY STILL UNKNOWN ASSERTS CHIEF

J. McFarland Tells Meeting Convention to Frame Program

Definite platform of the "Unity" movement can be known only when a convention of officially appointed delegates from all constituencies has been held, John I. McFarland, Calgary, chairman of the Provisional Unity Council of Alberta, declared Tuesday night when addressing a "Unity" meeting attended by 425 people in the Masonic Temple.

He urged constituency organization to be finished so that such a convention can be called. No date was fixed.

Resolution was passed pledging support to the Unity Council and a "Unity" meeting will be held in the Masonic Temple next Monday at 8 p.m. to discuss organization and the placing of "Unity" candidates in the city for the provincial election.

Broad principles of a program, Mr. McFarland said, had been agreed upon by the Unity Council which believed that "the best plank in any platform is the integrity and moral worth of the members of a government."

RECALLS JUNE MEETING

Mr. McFarland recalled that the Unity Council at their convention in this city last June declared "the selection of the man to head the next government in this province

CANADIANS TO FETE MONARCH NEXT MAY 20

Premier Announces King's Birthday Will Be Celebrated During Visit

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—Celebration of the King's birthday will be observed next May 20 while His Majesty and Queen Elizabeth are in Ottawa, it was announced here by Prime Minister Mackenzie King after a cabinet council.

Actual date of the King's birthday is December 14, but since his accession to the throne it has been observed June 9.

Canadians will celebrate His Majesty's birthday May 20 only for next year. The change was made with the King's approval.

The King and Queen will reach Canada May 15 for their Canadian tour of approximately three weeks. They will land at Quebec and presumably will come almost direct to Ottawa.

ed in the west, immigrants found themselves with no easy avenue of escape.

"It is inconceivable to me that all the propaganda issued for settlement purposes was believed in by those who prepared it," said Dr. Viner, appearing for the Manitoba government. "Source of these agencies still issue the same type of propaganda. Chicago newspapers even today are carrying advertisements of land opportunities in western Canada.

"This area has not, and will not be able to, support the existing population on a Canadian standard of living," he said.

Dr. Viner, born in Canada and a graduate of McGill University, said he felt this was a "very important issue" for Canada. Though he had been away for several years he was still deeply interested in the nation's problems.

ONE POSSIBLE SOLUTION

"I can see only one possible solution for the prairies, tolerable for them and reasonable for Canada as a whole. That is, a serious attempt to blast a place for Canadian wheat in world markets by tariff negotiations."

Otherwise, subsidies and bonuses were the only way of helping the west with its problems, and these were not a real solution.

"After all, grinding poverty is no good for such a large section of the Canadian population," he said.

"On its strictly economic aspects I do not see how the federal government can meet the problem by subsidies and the like for there is no unlimited wealth in Canada to provide such revenue. The west must sell more wheat, earn a normal living and thus be able to pay its debts."

Mystery Light Again Seen Near Atheists' Cemetery

ESTERHAZY, Sask., Nov. 30.—New fear swept into the district surrounding Tabor cemetery 17 miles northeast of here today following a report the cemetery's "ghost light" was seen again last night.

The people, descendants of a Czech colony that settled there in 1885, are convinced the fast-travelling pinkish light heralds a supernatural visitation. Among them the general attitude is "pray, brethren, pray, for the hour of visitation is at hand." They are certain the light is a warning, that something sinister is to befall them.

(Professor Gordon H. Shrum of the University of British Columbia said today the light probably was "some sort of electrical discharge." He compared it with the aurora borealis—northern lights.)

The cemetery itself originally was intended solely for the burial of atheists. No clergymen has ever entered it. Some of the original Czech settlers taught a gospel there was no such thing as God or hereafter, and their people were buried in the cemetery.

To most of the people the district is known as the Dovedale district and the cemetery as the Dovedale cemetery. It was renamed Tabor several years ago after one of the original settlers.

Old-time resident of Edmonton, having come here in 1900, Mary Ida Lynn, wife of Henry W. Lynn, died at her home in the Wensel Block, Tuesday. She was born in Middlesex County, Ontario, but left there 38 years ago for Alberta.

Services will be held from Hainstock and Son's funeral chapel Thursday at 2 p.m., with Dr. George A. Macdonald officiating. Interment will be made in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Surviving are her husband; three sons, Percy of Cooking Lake; Russel of Leduc; Oliver of Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. H. Robertson and Mrs. H. Stewart of Edmonton; one brother, George Morton of Ailsacraig, and Mrs. Alexander of Vancouver, B.C., as well as 11 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. Hainstock and Son, funeral directors, are in charge of arrangements.

FEDERAL AID FOR ALBERTA ROADS SOUGHT

CALGARY, Nov. 30—A campaign to induce the federal government to take a more active part in assisting Alberta road construction was recommended in a report presented today by D. S. Moffatt, K.C., of Calgary, to the Calgary board of trade council. The report also urged the Alberta government to apportion large amounts of license fees and gasoline tax for road work.

Other recommendations included: that the provincial government establish regulations preventing busses or trucks from using highways with a load in excess of that which the present highway construction will safely carry.

That automobile speed regulations stipulate a limit of 50 miles an hour.

Completion of the Lake Louise-Jasper and Big Bend highways as soon as possible.

Intrepid Airman Flies Ice Cream North For Miners

It may be winter at Goldfields, but in spite of cold weather the men "who moil for gold" still prefer ice cream to sourdough biscuits, with the result that when Harry Winny of Canadian Airways took off from Blatchford Field in Edmonton Wednesday morning his plane carried five gallons of ice cream, for the northern mining centre.

Also on the plane were three passengers, Mrs. George Duncan and child, wife of the Hudson's Bay Company's factor at Fond du Lac; W. Ferris for Fort Smith, and Steve Fedor for Gordon Lake, and express.

DEMAND FOR COLOR FILMS ON INCREASE

Increased public demand for motion picture films in technicolor was visible everywhere, H. C. Jaffa, Hollywood, associate color director for Technicolor Motion Picture Corporation, said here Wednesday.

Last year between 18-20 feature films were produced by his company, and counting the English output, this figure would be boosted to 25-30, said Mr. Jaffa.

The previous season only 12 pictures were produced with technicolor effects, he added.

STARS LOOK BETTER

Here for a brief visit before returning to Hollywood to resume work on several pictures, Mr. Jaffa is seeing his cousin, Mrs. Gwen Diplock, 10837 127 street.

Strike Broken

ing to overthrow the government and laws of the republic.

In that battle he appeared victorious.

In private industry the General Confederation of Labor, led by Leon Jouhaux and backed by the Socialist and Communist parties, proved more successful.

Roughly 30 per cent of the workers were estimated to have followed the strike order in most mines and factories. Even that, however, was a far cry from a general strike of 5,000,000 workers which labor had sought in its campaign specifically directed against Daladier's labor and financial policies.

Stores, offices and banks were nearly all open.

ONLY EVIDENCE

Military guards, their guns glinting in the sunlight of the cool autumn day, were the only extraordinary evidence of a great crisis.

Troops were put to work in some cases to maintain public services. Soldiers guarded downtown subway stations and handled mail bags in railway cars.

The strike was more effective in some other larger cities.

Marseille was without street cars and taxis but gas, water and electric services were operating as usual. Dock workers appeared on their jobs at the regular time.

TROOPS MOVED IN

In the northern industrial regions where left-wing labor is strongest, infantry reinforcements were moved in to join the regular troops there.

Valenciennes, where disorders occurred yesterday, came under the heaviest guard its residents could recall. Troops patrolled all public buildings, factories and railroad lines. Twenty men were arrested on charges of interfering with freedom to work.

Mines and factories there functioned although at a reduced rate.

For a time it had seemed as if Paris would suffer from a shortage of food as wary buyers in the great central market held off until it became apparent most of the city would be working as usual.

About dawn, the time when sweepers usually are cleaning up after a busy night, the market sprang into furious activity and trucks began running fruit and vegetables to food stores throughout the city.

STRENGTHENED POSITION

The general impression was that Daladier had strengthened his position by his firm stand.

Although he had lost his former Socialist and Communist supporters, members of his own Radical Socialist party and Conservative groups privately applauded his action enthusiastically.

Political observers believed Daladier now had a better chance of obtaining ratification of his decree laws when parliament returns. He would then be in a position to proceed with his three-year recovery plan.

BLANKETS COUNTRY

Determined to smash the strike, Daladier blanketed the country with armed men. Truck convoys started rolling out of garrisons carrying troops to strategic points shortly after 4 a.m. (9 p.m. M.S.T., Tuesday), the strike deadline. Some sections of Paris had the appearance of armed camps, with guards sitting near their stacked rifles waiting to rush to possible danger spots.

Should Daladier succeed completely in smashing the strike, he was expected to move ahead with his program "to rebuild France" without consulting organized labor.

His success was expected in some quarters to be followed by a denunciation of the French-Russian mutual assistance pact, for Daladier indirectly has accused Communism of fathering today's movement.

Only five morning newspapers out of the usual 40 appeared in Paris. These were published for the most part in makeshift ways—handwritten or typewritten, then engraved.

FOOD STORES OPEN

At 6:30 a.m. (11:30 p.m. M.S.T. Tuesday) French radio stations, whose programs are subjected to government censorship, broadcast a communique declaring "it seems that the day will pass calmly. Food stores will remain open in Paris. In the early hours this morning trains left stations normally. Some subway trains are now running. Eighty per cent of the capital's busses are running. Police authorities have declared that their first impressions are excellent. The day will be good for order."

MILITARY MARCHES

All the stations played military marches after reading the communique.

The strike, although under the Confederation of Labor banner, is backed by the Communist and Socialist parties, while Daladier is supported by the Centre and Right parties.

There have been numerous reports the premier was considering outlawing the Communist party and possibly arresting Communist Leader Maurice Thorez, Socialist Leader Blum and Leon Jouhaux, leader of the Confederation of Labor, on charges of inciting to strike.

Political leaders expressed the belief unless the strike movement gained belated headway later the Daladier government would have established itself firmly enough in the saddle to go ahead with its projected signature of a new Franco-German accord.

The government has been under heavy fire for its intention to conclude a war renunciation pact with Nazi Germany.

It has been considered necessary to get the domestic situation well in hand before signing a new pact. Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, is expected to arrive from Berlin within the next few days for the signing.

ATTEMPT TO BRING LABOR WAR TO END

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—United States government aides, with an eye on the impending congressional battle over revising the Wagner Labor Relations Act, are trying to bring organized labor's warring factions back to the peace conference table this winter.

New negotiations before spring are the goal of current efforts to end the three-year-old strife between the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor.

Many experts believe labor peace would avert a tug-of-war by union partisans over changes in the Wagner Act.

There have been widespread demands in industry and among anti-administration congressmen for its modification and for curtailment of the powers of the National Labor Board.

Unity Parley

shall be made by the independent elected representatives of the people."

"In other words," Mr. McFarland confessed, "the Unity Council assumes the leadership until after the next general election after which the members elected by the people will then choose their leader."

"It has been whispered around," said Mr. McFarland, "that the Unity movement is a party without leader."

"Such criticism can only be interpreted as a clumsy attempt to discourage our progress and our purpose," he charged, in pointing out that the Unity Council felt itself bound by the June resolution.

WILL NOT RESIGN

Breaking away from his prepared address, to the text of which he adhered closely throughout his speech, Mr. McFarland said that he had no intention of resigning as leader of the "unity" movement.

"I have no intention of retiring as chairman of the unity movement," Mr. McFarland said.

"I have never voluntarily retired from anything I have ever undertaken in my life and I am not going to start now," he added.

Reports that Joseph T. Shaw, K.C., Calgary, former leader of the Alberta Liberal party, would succeed him as head of the unity movement early in the new year were denied by Mr. McFarland.

Other speakers at the meeting, which was presided over by J. Percy Page, were Mrs. E. C. Pardee, Edmonton, and E. W. Brunsden, Calgary, secretary of the unity council.

REVIEWS PAST

Reviewing the abortive attempts to secure inter-party co-operation for "unity" dating from the time of the now defunct "People's League" Mr. Brunsden admitted:

"The party leaders, for various reasons, had failed to come together. No good purpose can be served in examining the reasons for their inability to reach agreement, and most certainly it will avail us nothing to set ourselves up as judges and seek to place the responsibility for their failure."

In his prepared speech Mr. McFarland took up several charges that he said had been made against him personally that he was a "Conservative" and that his political record was being used "to discredit" unity.

DID NOT SEEK OFFICE

After pointing out that he had not sought the position of chairman of the unity council, Mr. McFarland declared:

"I did not seek the honorable position as chairman of the unity council. The fact is I believe no applicants applied, and I finally consented to accept the responsibility as a public duty.

"I have never been active in politics, but I have in my time voted for several political parties, and among those parties have been both Conservatives and Liberals, but more recently it has been Conservative.

"I am now informed some politicians have placed the Conservative label on me and I am said to be dangerous as chairman of Unity," Mr. McFarland continued.

"On that score some individuals have made an effort to discredit unity. I am sorry if my record politically or otherwise in the life of this province can be used to damage a great patriotic movement such as this. ("I shall be very sorry," he interjected parenthetically).

"However, I am consoled by the suspicion a similar charge would have been made against any other man, who might have been in my place.

Meeting still another criticism as to the sources from which the unity movement derives its funds, Mr. McFarland again entered a denial that any money is coming from "large financial sponsorship."

He claimed the unity movement was in financial difficulties and that its account at the bank "is substantially overdrawn."

Chairman Percy Page, member of the unity council, said he was pleased that Mr. McFarland had made this statement and that he "was surprised that the bank had carried their overdraft."

Objectors Open Own New School At Three Hills

Because their parents believe that two books "The Three Musketeers" and "The Silver Box," prescribed as supplementary reading in literature courses, are "unfit to read," 11 school students in the Three Hills district have been provided with a separate school. The parents decided to supply the separate school for their children when the regular school board refused to accede to their request for the withdrawal of the disputed books. Special teachers have been appointed for the new school.

Two Face Charge Of Armed Robbery In Calgary Court

CALGARY, Nov. 30.—Harvey Blackstock and James Carter, both of Calgary, were charged with armed robbery when they appeared in police court today. They were arrested last night after Harry Shuler's grocery store was entered by two armed men who scooped $35 from the till.

Runaway Patient Still Unlocated

Edmonton's runaway scarlet fever patient was still at large Wednesday morning, it was reported by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health. The patient, a woman, disappeared from her hotel room on Monday while the isolation hospital ambulance was coming to take her to hospital. Police are seeking her.

ST. LAWRENCE GRAIN SHIPPING SHOWS INCREASE

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—More than 163,000,000 bushels of grain was shipped out of the St. Lawrence this year, the Montreal Star estimated in a newspaper story Tuesday, with this port getting better than 50 per cent of the business.

The newspaper estimated Montreal handled 91,000,000 bushels, an increase of 28,000,000 over last year's 61,000,000 total. This would be the best total since 1928, when more than 211,000,000 bushels passed through Montreal's elevators.

Sorel, about 40 miles down the river, handled 41,000,000 bushels in comparison with 12,000,000 in 1937. Most of the wheat, the Star added, went to Germany.

Further downstream, at Three Rivers, business was estimated to have reached 30,000,000, against 20,000,000 a year ago.

The remaining 3,000,000 bushels was reported to have been exported through Quebec City's elevators, which were far below their 1937 total.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Nov. 30.—To solve a market glut of obsolete radios, dealers here decided to have hundreds of old sets hauled to the top of historic Fort Howe and burned in a huge bonfire.

ST. ANDREW DAY MESSAGE IS RECEIVED

Communication Sent to Canadians Through Oxford Group

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 30.—Signed by the Earl of Airlie, Lord Chamberlain to her Majesty the Queen, and by eleven other leading Scotsmen, a St. Andrew's Day message to Scots in Canada was released through members of the Oxford Group in convention here today.

The message reads as follows:

"Saint Andrew's Day brings Scotsmen together all over world. What can be our contribution in these anxious times in order to save civilization from collapse? If we do our duty the present uneasy respite may become the turning point in history, a new spirit may overcome the world.

MUST FACE CAUSES

"It is evident from the way in which crisis has followed crisis that we have not yet faced the fundamental causes of world unrest. We have followed for too long the deadend policy of blaming other people, other classes and other nations. That we have been so close to shipwreck is tragic evidence of spiritual bankruptcy. We have relied on material resources, almost to the exclusion of spiritual energies on which alone true life can be built.

"The appeal is being made by national leaders in many countries for moral and spiritual rearmament. Inner discipline, founded on absolute honesty and unselfishness, must liberate us from a false philosophy, a so-called freedom based on anarchy. Obedience to God must replace selfwill and slavery to convention. This higher loyalty will surmount differences in class, creed and faction until, so armed and so united, a nation can face the future with assurance.

SCOTLAND MUST CONQUER

"This small country of Scotland holds a unique place among the nations, for she has given leadership to the world out of all proportion to her size. A turbulent spirit, combined with an unquenchable thirst for things unknown has driven her sons and daughters to every corner of the earth. But this is no time to rest on past achievement. We must bend all our energy and faith to the shaping of the future. The pioneers of yesterday pitted themselves against the inanimate forces of nature and won, the pioneers of today must conquer the lawless forces of human nature.

"In town and village the soul of Scotland is stirring again at the call of an enterprise greater by far than the girding of continents and luanching of mighty ships. Moral and spiritual rearmament will call forth that strength of character which has always been Scotland's greatest wealth. It demands for its fulfillment a nobler effort and self sacrifice than Scotland has ever before required of her sons. The voice of God must become the will of the people."

FAMOUS SIGNATURES

In addition to the Earl of Airlie, other signatures were the Marquess of Clydesdale, M.P., amateur boxer, who flew over Mount Everest in 1933; Sir Ian Colquhoun, Chief of the Clan of Colquhoun, Lord High Commissioner General Assembly Church of Scotland 1932; F. J. Doolan, Lord Provost of Glasgow; William Hamilton Fyfe, Principal and Vice Chancellor Aberdeen University since 1936, Formerly Principal and Vice-Chancellor Queen's University Kingston, Ontario; Lieut. General Sir Charles Grant, General Officer Commanding the Scottish Command; Sir Hector Hetherington, Principal and Vice-Chancellor Glasgow University; The Earl of Home, Lord Lieutenant Berwickshire, President Boys' Brigade; Sir Donald Cameron of Lochiel, Chief of the Clan Cameron; Sir John Boyd Orr, director of the Rowett Research Institute of Aberdeen; Sir Cecil M. Weir, convenor, Glasgow Exhibition and Sir John Fraser, Surgeon to His Majesty the King.

Alberta Hospital Regulations Need Dusting Is Claim

CALGARY, Nov. 30—Basically, rules and regulations of hospitals throughout Alberta have not been changed during the past five years it was disclosed at a round-table conference of delegates attending the convention of the Alberta hospital association and the Alberta municipal hospitals association here Tuesday.

"If that is so," remarked Dr. G. Harvey Agnew of Toronto, leader of the round-table discussion, "then they should be dug up and the dust taken off them to see if they are adequate for the present situation."

When the Ontario government had, some years ago, asked hospitals to produce copies of regulations for review, a great man could not even find the regulations, he said. Many of the rules and regulations in effect, he said, dated back to the last century.

Germany And Japan Expansions In India Endangers Britain

WINNIPEG, Nov. 30.—Abdullah Yusef Ali, C.B.E., Moslem educationist, author and internationalist Tuesday said Japanese commercial penetration into India and the imminent probability of united imperial expansion by Germany and Japan are believed in India the gravest dangers to the British Empire.

Ali is making his second tour of Canada for the National Council of education. He said he believed India, in time, would realize her position was better inside the British Empire than outside. Japan's interest in India should drive this point home, he said.

UNUSUAL PLEA ENTERED FOR SENTENCE CUT

CALGARY, Nov. 30.- An unusual plea was entered when Jack Revege of Didsbury, Alta., sought to have a prison sentence reduced by the Alberta appeal court here Tuesday.

"He has been converted," Rev. F. W. Cole of Didsbury, told the judges. "I know this man was a menace to society but he is a menace no longer," he said.

Revege was sentenced to two years less one day in Lethbridge jail by Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd when convicted of a $1,000 binder twine robbery at Didsbury during the summer.

No decision was given yesterday. The court set over the appeal until the next session in Calgary.

U.S. PREPARES PLAN TO UNITE LATIN AMERICA

Million-Dollar Yearly Program Designed To Solidify Republics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—A $1,000,000-a-year program, designed to draw the American republics closer together and thereby help checkmate any inroads of totalitarianism, was announced last night by a committee of United States government leaders.

It was regarded as a sweeping reply to the challenge of European efforts to invade Latin America with the political, cultural and economic philosophies of old world dictatorship.

PLAN SUGGESTED

Among the steps suggested were these:

Despatch of many American cultural groups to sister republics in the western hemisphere; training of Latin American scholars and technicians in government branches here; co-operation in radio, aviation and highway development; a study of Latin American resources and possibilities; distribution of American literature and state documents in Latin America; display of United States films in Latin America, and films on Latin America in the United States; public health service co-operation; and stimulation of American travel in countres to the south.

74 PROPOSALS

The program covered 74 separate proposals, all non-military. It was made public by the inter-departmental committee on co-operation with the American republics in a report to President Roosevelt.

The committee made clear that its program contemplates the voluntary co-operation of the other republics, but that no compulsion is implied.

LABOR PROBLEMS NOT UNDERSTOOD SAYS M'LELLAN

CALGARY, Nov. 30—Present members of the Alberta government do not understand the problems of labor, A. E. MacLellan, Social Credit M.L.A. for Innisfail, told delegates at the annual convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor here Tuesday.

During a discussion on the Workmen's Compensation act, Mr. MacLellan said compensation rates had gone up for all workers because of the high percentage of accidents in the mining and lumbering industries. Mine owners must be very vigilant for safety of employees.

He said members of the legislature were not consulted on the appointment of Dr. V. W. Wright of Edmonton as chairman of the compensation board.

He was a member of the provincial legislative committee which re-drafted the act last year, making it a one-man board instead of a three-member board as previously set up.

Jasper Loses Old Mountain Guide

JASPER, Nov. 30.—Jasper lost one of her outstanding mountain guides when Clay Robbins passed away suddenly Monday afternoon from a heart attack. Intimately connected with the history of Jasper Park since 1916, this grand old man of the mountains was the favorite of hundreds who come yearly to Jasper Park Lodge, where he was in charge of Brewster's pony barn. He has been employed by Fred Brewster for a number of years and has also been manager of Brewster's famous Black Cat Ranch at Brule.

Hospitals Appoint Purchasing Agent

CALGARY, Nov. 30—Delegates at the joint Alberta hospitals association and Alberta municipal hospitals association convention here Tuesday appointed James MacDonald as a one-man co-operative purchasing agent for municipal hospitals. He will buy hospital supplies, ending a 15-year struggle for a co-operating buying scheme.

S.F. Feels Quake

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30 — A single, sharp earthquake shock was felt here about 9:50 p.m. last night, causing some alarm to residents in the western section of the city. No damage was reported.

NON-PERMANENT ARMY CONDITIONS TO BE IMPROVED

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—Estimates for the national defence department are being drawn up for submission to the treasury board, it was learned here Tuesday. Indications are they will disclose a considerable increase over previous years.

From the statement of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of national defence, in an address Monday night it is expected one branch of the service which will be allowed a more generous appropriation than in the past will be the non-permanent militia. In recent years officers and men of the non-permanent force generally have turned their allowances back to their unit treasuries for the purpose of purchasing clothing and equipment which the government failed to supply.

One grievance of the non-permanent militia is that the troops have to buy their own boots, even to go to camp. Various resolutions from the defence associations have urged the government to provide these. It is not improbable this grievance will be removed in the forthcoming estimates.

Two Arrests Follow Calgary Robbery

CALGARY, Nov. 30.—Calgary police last night arrested two men on vagrancy charges a few minutes after the armed robbery of Harry Shuder's grocery store in east Calgary. The thieves, each with a revolver, threatened three shoppers before scooping $35 from the till. Names of those arrested were not revealed.

NAZI INSURANCE FIRMS FILE HUGE DAMAGE CLAIMS

BERLIN, Nov. 30.—German insurance firms made an international question Tuesday of claims for damages, which one broker put as high as $520,000,000, in an anti-Jewish violence Nov. 10.

The German companies submitted claims to foreign—primarily British—underwriters who carried re-insurance on the hundreds of Jewish synagogues, stores and homes which were burned, looted and damaged in what Propaganda Minister Goebbels called "spontaneous demonstrations" after a Jewish boy killed a German diplomat in Paris.

Jews themselves were ordered to repair the damages, but the government has seized the insurance claims to be applied to a $400,000,000 fine against Jews for the slaying of Ernst Von Rath, secretary of the Paris embassy, by Herschel Grynszpan.

It was learned the foreign companies would resist paying the claims on various grounds, including that adequate police protection was lacking for the insured places and that the outbursts were organized with the connivance of the government.

20 Miners Burn

WALDENBURG, Germany, Nov. 30—Rescue workers last night abandoned attempts to save 10 miners trapped in a burning coal mine from which the bodies of 10 other workers were recovered. Mine officials said it was certain the entombed miners had been killed.

The Refugees

The world is growing more tolerant, more compassionate, more sensitive to human needs—except in parts. The majority of its governments are just now wrestling with the question of where to provide asylum for the 500,000 Jews who are being driven out of Germany, and impoverished before being exiled. Not many generations ago these refugees would have been left to find subsistence and shelter where they could, or to perish from hunger and ill-use. Now, in every important country outside the Trinity of Threat there is genuine concern for them and undoubted willingness to make room for as many of them as local circumstances seem to permit. Even in the country from which they are being driven, there can scarcely be a doubt that popular sympathy is with the victims of political tyranny, inactive only because punishment is the reward of any who give them aid. It is not the German people, but their masters, who are driving the Jews into exile by systematic official abuse.

Where to locate this great company of refugees is the practical point engaging the attention of the democratic peoples and their governments. Unfortunately, in none of these countries are economic conditions such as to require, or even to safely permit, a heavy influx. The exiles will have to be distributed widely, and in proportion to the absorptive capacity of the states willing to receive them. But that a way will be found to accommodate them, and to finance their transportation and placement, is certain.

It is also certain that the countries which give them refuge will profit in the long run, for industry, thrift and enterprise are outstanding characteristics of the exiles. It is largely because they possess these qualities, and have amassed wealth through them, that they are being robbed and expelled by the Nazis.

Who Gets the Profits?

Premier Hepburn thinks that if the west is to be compensated in any way for disabilities imposed upon it by tariff and monetary policies the cost of building western railways should be left out of the calculation. The railways, he argues, were built for the benefit of the west, not the east, nor the Dominion as a whole, and the west has no right to charge part of the cost to the account of the older provinces. And taking a narrow and short-range view, he is right. It was to benefit themselves, not outsiders, western people clamored for railways and kept on clamoring until they got them.

But by the same process of reasoning a good many other things could be proved, some of which the Premier could not deny but would not like to admit. If Canada is to remain a single country and become a prosperous and contented one, the sectional type of argument cannot be used to build the national policies. These will have to be framed with a view to results upon the Dominion at large. From that viewpoint western railway construction—and western development because of that railway construction—has been the largest factor in bringing about industrial, commercial and financial growth throughout the Dominion.

What, in broad terms, has been the result of this construction and the western development it made possible? The west has been selling abroad every year anything up to a half billion bushels of wheat, importing the money and spending the bulk of it in Ontario and Quebec. Then western people individually or collectively through their municipal councils and provincial governments have borrowed the money back in huge amounts and paid higher rates of interest than prevailed anywhere else in Canada.

Whoever western railway construction was supposed to help there is no room for doubt where the net proceeds of western development have gone. Premier Hepburn has only to look about him to discover that.

Drumheller Valley

The best tribute that can be paid to Drumheller Valley, a name to conjure with in mining circles, is that it has kept its proud place in years which saw many other centres fall at the impact of the depression. Three thousand miners work its thirty collieries, whose annual yield of about one and a quarter million tons is mainly sold in the west. Through lean days and prosperous times alike Drumheller has done its part to make coal remain among the most fruitful assets of Alberta.

Mine operators in the valley agreed this fall to a five per cent increase in wages as a prelude to improved work conditions. It is felt that coming months are rich in their promise and that the march to prosperity should be steady and assuring.

The history of Alberta is the story of the development of natural resources. Sometimes that process has been so spectacular that publicity has been exhausted by its praise; other times the quiet advances made have stirred little attention because they were so natural progress seemed the law of life. Drumheller belongs to the latter category, and judged by its fine record and its present prospects it will well repay watching.

Editorial Notes

Since Seager Wheeler won the wheat "crown" at Chicago in 1911, Canadians have captured the honor in 24 out of the 28 years. All the Canadian prize-winners were residents of western Canada. The quality preference given to Canadian wheat on the world markets is based on reality.

Sir George Paish says unless self-sufficiency policies are abandoned there may be a complete breakdown of world trade within twelve months. Which is the same as saying unless the new trade agreements signed at Washington are ratified, the world is in for another depression—and a worse one. Aside from these, nothing has yet been done to undermine the barriers which check the flow of commerce between the nations.

The Duke of Windsor promptly vetoed the unofficial invitation extended to him and the Duchess to spend Christmas in England. His critics should think better of him for that. No one knows better than the late King that the visit would have created "awkward situations" and caused a fresh outbreak of controversy; and no one has been more careful to avoid any reactions of the kind. The pity is that some of his friends in England have less sagacity.

Mr. Anthony Eden has been invited to address the U.S. National Association of Manufacturers at New York, on the subject "Democracy and the modern world". United States manufacturers have been pretty consistent in their opposition to trade policies which would give British goods easier admittance to their markets. The invitation, following closely on the signing of the new agreement, and the subject, suggest they may be thinking at present of larger issues than tariff schedules.

Ottawa's Relief Bill

In the first ten months of this year the cost of direct relief to the taxpayers of Ottawa was $464,068, this being exclusive of the contribution of the Ontario government, and when November and December are added the city's share for the year will be about $550,000. Actually the ultimate cost will be considerably higher, because we shall have to borrow the money for more than half the bill, pay it back in five years with interest. All the larger cities of the province have to meet similar or larger relief costs.

The Ottawa figures show a substantial reduction when compared with relief charges last year, but it is clear that there is no immediate prospect of an end to this heavy drain on public revenues.—Ottawa Journal.

Canada's Gold Mines

Canada's gold mines made notable contributions to the economic stability of the country during the recent depression in business. In 1937, for the third consecutive year, an all-time high record in the production of gold was established at 4,096,215 fine ounces. During the first eight months of the current year 3,051,081 ounces were produced as compared with 2,672,812 ounces during the corresponding period of 1937. It may, therefore, be anticipated that a new record of output will be achieved in 1938.

A second important contribution of the industry to the general economic life of the country was recently analyzed in a special bulletin of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This report disclosed that exclusive of salaries and wages, Canadian gold mining companies expended over $40 million in 1937 for consumable stores, equipment, electric power, fuel, freight and insurance. A similar survey had been made for the year 1935, and a comparison of the totals indicates that during the two-year interval such expenditures increased by no less than 40 per cent. With the continued expansion in the mining of gold, this contribution to the activity and welfare of other Canadian industries may be expected to increase in proportion.—Royal Bank of Canada.

B. C.'s Utility Board

The Pattullo government deserves credit for working out a measure of control for public utilities that every party has been insistent upon demanding. It should be commended for defining so sharply and clearly the extent of its intentions towards business in British Columbia.

This Public Utilities Bill puts a definite limit upon the government's policy in this latter regard. As such it should set at rest the apprehensions of many who have been whispering that Victoria was proposing to adopt measures that would bring every enterprise, private or public, within the probing fingers of officialdom.

Nevertheless, and in spite of the fact that all sections of political opinion have been clamoring for this very thing, there are those who are so meanly intent upon disparaging every act of the Pattullo administration that they find even here that "no good thing can come out of Galilee."

First these cantankerous critics found fault with the notion that public utilities control would be in the hands of a one-man commission. That objection is met by the decision to set up a three-man commission. Naturally enough, the success of this control will depend upon the calibre of the men who are chosen to exercise it. So far as criticism on this point is concerned, we can only wait and see.

Secondly, these carping observers howl long and bitterly over the fact that the Public Utilities Commission will serve in an advisory rather than in a judicial capacity. They would like to have the rulings of this body final and binding. They object to the constitution of the measure which makes the Governor-in-Council the source of the orders issued upon its recommendations.

In this country, we believe that parliament is the final authority. It is dangerous to establish commissions with judicial powers. Even the courts themselves can be over-ridden by the will of the people.—Vancouver Sun.

Romance and Struggle in the West

That was an interesting dispatch from Edmonton in The Star on Thursday about Nels Linden, of Wetaskiwin, newly crowned wheat king of Canada by virtue of his triumph at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto. He came to this country as a penniless immigrant boy, and worked for thirteen years as a coal heaver before securing a farm. It soon became evident that he had found his appropriate occupation. He took prizes for his poultry, was Canadian oats king in 1929, and at Chicago became the continent's barley king a few years later. His is only one of the many life-stories connected with the various grain kingships which go to illustrate the romance—and the struggle—of agriculture.

From and including 1911, Canadians have been "wheat king" at Chicago twenty-three times. Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, Sask., who won the award five times, nearly had his farm sold over his head on a number of occasions. Herman Trelle, of Wembley, Alberta, another five-times king, had his farmhouse burned and was forced to carry on in a shack. J. H. B. Smith, of Wolf Lake, Alberta, the winner in 1929, once kept, with his wife, a boarding house for Grand Trunk Pacific construction gangs, and finally settled on bush land that had been rejected as worthless. British-born Major Strange, the 1923 winner, had been a gas engineer in Honolulu, served in the Great War, and came to Canada to regain his health. He farmed, prospered, and now is public relations counsel for a western grain company—one of the prominent men interviewed by Mr. R. J. Deachman, M.P., on his present tour of the west as a Star correspondent. Frank Isaackson, the Chicago king in 1933, had not enough money to travel from his farm at Elfros, Sask., to attend the fair at which he won first honors. And so it goes, the story of romance and struggle. The winners at Chicago have been of various racial origins. Isackson, like Linden who won at Toronto this year, was of Swedish parentage; Trelle, of German-American descent.

The West is not a land of opportunity for Canadians alone, nor yet for Britishers alone. But the West is beginning to wonder whether it is really the land of opportunity it ought to be. It is beginning to wonder whether it is not paying too high a price for the tariff which affords artificial protection to Central Canada industries.—Toronto Star.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Out of the welter of Nazi brutalities and the protests they have brought forth comes one nugget of satiric humor. In New York where public demonstrations were rife against the inhuman cruelty of the German Nazis, it became necessary to create a special police squad to protect the German Consul General and his staff, visiting German notables and the property of Germans, including the North German Lloyd piers and ships.

JEWISH POLICE TO GUARD NAZIS

Mayor La Guardia and Police Commissioner Valentine have called the new squad the German Protection squad. It supersedes the former Alien squad. It is headed by Captain Max Finkelstein, president of the Shomrim (Jewish) Society. His assistants are Police Lieut. Jacob Lickers and Sergeant Isaac Goldstein. Every man under them is a Jew. Isn't that heaping coals of fire on the head of the Nazis?

The idea isn't new. When Theodore Roosevelt was Police Commissioner of New York he had a difficult situation to meet. Rector Ahlwardt of Berlin was announced to arrive from Berlin to preach a crusade against the Jews. At once there were demands that he be denied a landing or a hearing. Some asked that he be denied police protection. To none of these requests could Roosevelt accede.

Writes he in "Theodore Roosevelt—An Autobiography" (Chas. Scribner's Sons): "The proper thing to do was to make him ridiculous. Accordingly I detailed for his protection a Jew sergeant and a score or two of Jew policemen. He made his harangue against the Jews under the active protection of some forty policemen, every one of them a Jew. It was the most effective possible answer."

The Nazis may have been too hasty in announcing that they will confiscate all insurance monies for the repair of damage they inflicted upon Jewish property, making their victims repair the damage at their own expense. Much of the insurance on Jewish synogogues and large business premises that were wrecked by the Nazi gangs, is placed with British insurance companies, and underwritten by Lloyds. Payment to a third party—even to a foreign State, under a decree of its government—would not absolve the underwriters from their liabilities to the Jewish clients, so they are advised by counsel.

HOW WOULD YOU COPE WITH THIS?

On the other hand, the Nazi decree forbids the companies to pay to the insured Jews in Germany. What are the companies to do?

Conceivably, the Nazi government in fulfilment of totalitarian principles, may lift the decree in order to have the insurance monies paid over, and then confiscate them as soon as they reach Germany.

All these problems are undergoing consideration by legal advisers to the British insurance companies, and a reference to the British Government is likely. If you want an interesting parlor game or mental exercise some time, try working out a solution to this problem. My suggestion is that the policy-holders let their claims lie dormant until such time as they can get established under the flag of one of the civilized nations—but then, I'm not living under the heel of Nazi tyrants.

It seems I was wrong about the "peace of Munich." I thought it would last six months—while Hitler was preparing his out-lined Drang nach Osten. It hasn't lasted six weeks. The brevity of the peace was explained at the funeral of Herr von Rath by Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop as being due to the "lies and slanders, persecution, terror and murder" imposed by the Jews upon the helpless Nazis. One outcome of the "peace of Munich" is acknowledged by Britain of Italy's right of conquest in Ethiopia, and the bringing into effect of the Anglo-Italo Treaty. Prime Minister Chamberlain has remarkable faith in humanity—Nazi and Fascist humanity.

POLITICS MAKE STRANGE FRIENDS

It was only the other day that Mussolini made boast that Italian planes had brought down 580 Spanish loyalist aircraft, including two dirigibles, during the time Italy was observing the "non-intervention pact." He has withdrawn tired troops and shipped in fresh ones to show his good faith before the Anglo-Italian pact could be entered upon.

An aerial photograph of the Nadir—the armed vessel that sank a Spanish passenger vessel within sight of the shores of Britain—reveals that she is not one of the vessels of Franco's navy. The shape of her life-buoys suggest she is not of German, Dutch or Scandinavian origin. She probably belongs to the same nation that furnished the "pirate" submarines in the Mediterranean. For wishing to stand up against such conduct, Eden was dismissed from the Chamberlain cabinet.

Six months more of this and you'll most likely see Anthony Eden the next Prime Minister of Britain. If you feel like changing your nationality, the little Republic of Columbia, with coastline on the Pacific and the Carribean Sea has placed itself on record as censuring the Reich for its "violation of the ideals of human kinship."

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

IN A GAMBLING DEN

Two friends, national Christian leaders, were visiting us, and we decided to celebrate by going early to a primitive restaurant in a lonely spot where the food was reputed to be excellent. We saw nothing amiss as we were ushered into a compartment all to ourselves.

After a rare dinner, we discovered, by looking into other rooms, that the place was nothing less than a gambling den! Suppose it had been raided while we were there! Of course, we are taking steps to see that it is raided.

Meanwhile, I find myself wishing that some Y.M.C.A.'s and Y.W.C.A.'s would provide food as delicious as we got in that abode of sin. Why should the children of light be less progressive and competent than the children of darkness?

In a world full of sin's pitfalls for unwary feet, we pray, O Lord, that we may be as wise as serpents; and that we may learn to outmatch all the attractions of evil. Amen.

City Debt Charges

Editor, Bulletin: Why should our city fathers refuse to ask the provincial government to aid the city in refunding, by compulsion, if necessary, in reducing the interest rates of 4½, 5, 6 and 7 per cent. on the city's 26 million dollar net debt, to interest rates of 1½, 2, 3 and 4 per cent., as was done in Windsor, Ont., by their city council with the aid of the Ontario government?

In the Fortin settlement made in Windsor, the city tax rate was limited to 40 mills, as it was considered any rate in excess would result in confiscation. We, in Edmonton, pay 54 mills, with the result the city now owns more lots than the 11,000 property owners on the tax rolls. The number is getting smaller each year, of those able to pay the 54 mills tax rate.

When will the taxpayers realize that money (or credit) should be available at 2 per cent., or less, for all government expenditures—city, provincial and Dominion?

TAXPAYER.

Unification of Railways

Editor, Bulletin: In the reasons given why the railways should be united and savings in labor costs made, of 40 to 75 million dollars, not one statement is made that the ruinous debt interest charges should be cut to a reasonable basis.

Do you know that hundreds of millions of dollars in debt claims are being given "sanctity," when the assets these claims are supposed to represent have long ago disappeared?

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific issued, 50 and 75 years ago, bonds and "perpetual" high-interest bearing shares of stock on roadbeds and right-of-ways, which have been abandoned many long years ago.

Hon. Charles A. Dunning, in parliament, stated Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, interviewed the holders of these "perpetual" bonds and stocks, to offer them low interest refunding securities, but was refused, in every case, any favorable consideration.

Are Canadians to continue to pay FOREVER hundreds and hundreds of millions of dollars in usury on debt claims issued by our railway companies to foreign bond and stockholders, without one protest from our railway union leaders?

All debt claims should be paid in cash, where the assets have disappeared, and all further interest claims cancelled by law.

Human rights must ever be given first consideration as against usury, which is against the LAWS OF GOD, and every bit as bad as physical slavery in its effect on life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Think it over, Mr. Editor!
Calder. RAILROADER.

Keeps Record Clear

Editor, Bulletin: I have not desired publicity in regard to recent newspaper item saying "Norman Bowles walks out of Innisfail S. C. convention", but since a distorted report of what did happen reached the press, I feel justified in re-stating the reasons for my considered protest, in order to keep the records straight.

Two clear reasons were given at the time I withdrew my name for re-nomination for the office of secretary-treasurer—which office I had held for one year.

(1) I quite definitely protested the unfair and un-British tactics which were used on the floor of the convention. The convention condoned, without understanding the true situation, references to Mrs. Mary Bowles' participation in the recent Athabasca by-election. It quite definitely by motion opposed issuance of an invitation of Mrs. Mary Bowles to present her side of the story.

(2) In withdrawing, I quite definitely protested the exclusion of our member, A. E. McLellan, from the Caucus. This exclusion amounted to a withdrawing of our Government from Mr. McLellan, our member, rather than a withdrawing of him from them.

These were the reasons given by me for withdrawing. To these I could have added my protests in respect to the attempts of certain irresponsible government supporters, here and abroad, to discredit our member.

The report was true when it stated that I have given staunch support to the Social Credit movement for years, in spite of the fact that I have not always seen eye-to-eye with our Alberta political leaders and that I have not been satisfied with the results.

The report was true when it stated that of all the delegates present, I was the only one who had opened an account with an Alberta Sub-Treasury Branch, or had been instrumental in arranging for a merchant's sign-up.

It was also true that a motion of regret was passed with regard to my withdrawal, and a committee was sent to try to persuade me to return. This I declined to do since certain reasonable conditions were not fulfilled.

In the future I shall feel free to support the honest and sincere endeavors of this government or of any other person or persons—irrespective of party—providing social and monetary reforms are sought.

To alleviate the debt problem, to establish means of increasing consumption and social benefits, and to get all the way across Canada government control and issuance of debt free credit will require a courageous and broadminded stand, by all progressive persons.

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

November 30 is the feast of St. Andrew. It marks the anniversary of the martyrdom of the apostle who, with his prother, Simon Peter, was one of the two first called by Christ to be "fishers of men." Always nearest to Advent Sunday, St. Andrew's Day, according whether it falls before or after that date, is the first or the last festival of the church year. This year it is the first.

St. Andrew has been honored from time immemorial as the patron saint of Scotland. The renowned royal burg in Fifeshire owes its name and origin to the apostle and martyr, and since the eighth century there has been within the burg a sepulchre of the martyr's relics, brought from the site of his burial in Constantinople, a church erected in honor of the Twelve Apostles. St. Andrew's Cross—a cross decussate—symbolical of the apostle's crucifixion, forms part of the Union Jack, to represent Scotland on Britain's national flag.

Four Men Trapped In Plane Mishap

None of the men was injured and a supply of food was dropped for them from another plane after the mishap Tuesday. Extent of damage to the plane is not known although it is reported to have sunk in the ice to the wing top.

YOUNG GIRL'S STEER BEST IN CHICAGO SHOW

14-Year-Old Profits From Aberdeen-Angus Champion

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—The highest livestock award of the International Livestock Exposition was won Tuesday by a 14-year-old high school girl with an Aberdeen-Angus steer she bought last January 1 for $160.

Competing against some of the outstanding United States livestock breeders, Irene Brown, of Aledo, Ill., led Mercer, her 21-month-old jet black 1,-33-pound steer into the show ring. William J. Cumber, expert livestock judge from Theale, Berkshire, England, selected the girl's entry as the grand champion steer of the show.

Miss Brown bought Mercer from Dr. R. C. Johnson, of Aledo. The steer weighed 550 pounds then. She estimated that Mercer had won approximately $900 in prizes at fairs. Her investment in the steer amounted to about $160, including the purchase price and feed.

"I guess I must have picked a good bargain," Miss Brown said.

Mercer's reign as grand champion will be brief. On Thursday he will go on the auction block to be knocked down to the highest bidder. Miss Brown will receive a handsome sum for him. Last year's grand champion steer brought $2.35 a pound.

Ontario To Enforce Sensible Blue Laws

OSHAWA, Ont., Nov. 30—Hon. Habitual Criminal Gets Another Parole When He Survives Airplane Wreck

SEATTLE, Nov. 30.—Fate handed Isadore R. (Izzy) Edelstein another parole Tuesday. The 51-year-old paroled Washington state convict, twice released by executive clemency from life prison sentences, was the only passenger known to have survived the wreck of a transport plane in the Pacific ocean north of San Francisco. His knee cap was broken.

Edelstein, saved with Pilot Charles Stead, left the state penitentiary at Walla Walla Nov. 23 under a parole by Governor Martin permitting him to go to Hawaii, where he had business interests.

Both life sentences were on habitual criminal charges. The first case involved convictions of burglary at Spokane, Wash., in 1925, at Springfield, Mo., in 1913, and at Seattle in 1919.

He was paroled by Governor Martin March 4, 1934, and on Jan. 18, 1935, was charged with burglary and assault with intent to kill in Paducah, Ky., after assertedly escaping in a running gunfight with police officers and sentenced once more to life in prison.

Acquitted Of Murder, Man Is Again Jailed

MONTREAL, Nov. 30. — Frank Arthur Wexler, acquitted of murder last Thursday night was arrested last night on a charge of attempted suicide.

FULL CREWS ARE KEPT IN NORTH

During freeze-up Consolidated Smelters maintained full crews but with the resumption of plane service there is some expectation that a number of carpenters and others on construction will be laid off. The company added to its underground crews by taking surface employees into the mine, where there is considerable machinery to install and development work to be done before the property can go into production.

On the hydro project a full crew is being maintained at Tazin lake where a tunnel is in progress. A construction crew is also busy at Wellington lake where powerhouse machinery is being installed. The tunnel at Tazin is reported to be a winter's job, the Wellington lake work however, is expected to be completed by the new year.

There are rumors that Athona Mine will re-open at an early date. Norman Byrne, local representative of the company declined to confirm the rumor.

BENTON

Four miles east of Benton, Martin Robarich found a badger whose foot had been cut by a passing train. According to the old timers this is the first badger found around here for about ten years. T. Jones reports that these animals were all killed off when there was a large demand for their fur. New badger holes seen recently, tell of their return.

Gas Waste In Turner Valley

"While seven bills were passed at the recent session of the provincial legislature, the main reason for the session was the Gas Conservation Act," E. P. Foster, Didsbury, M.L.A. said at Trochu.

"I was horrified at the condition existing in the Turner Valley, where old-producing wells are paying no dividends, and another paying two dividends of three cents and four cents, while one company is wasting gas valued at $840 per day."

WETASKIWIN

At the Wetaskiwin Social Credit constituency convention held over the week-end, E. Lee was re-elected president and G. L. Gothard, vice president; F. L. Thorne, secretary treasurer. Delegates to the divisional conference were: E. Lee, F. L. Thorne, A. J. Rix, C. R. Shantz and J. R. Hurrell. Elvin Lee was elected delegate to the provincial convention to be held in Edmonton.

A resolution asking that a branch of the provincial treasury department be established in Wetaskiwin as soon as possible was passed unanimously.

State medicine was recommended as the only solution to the problem of providing medical attention to those, who, due to financial stringency are unable to pay for the same.

R. E. Ansley, M.L.A., for Leduc, told of the efforts of the government to conserve gas in the Turner Valley, and stated that 70 percent of the wells in the Valley are owned by two major companies and that the so-called independent operators were forced to sell their production to these two companies.

GOLDFIELDS

Due to the difficulty of securing an adequate supply of fuel by residents of this camp Consolidated Smelters purchased five hundred cords of wood from George Rhyanen local wood cutter. The company proposes to supply this wood to employees at $10 per cord delivered in stove lengths. In addition to giving the employees wood at cost it will keep tractor men and helpers employed.

THREE HILLS

Following officers were elected to the Three Hills Board of Trade: W. K. Web, president; A. J. Robertson, vice-president; R. Shortreed, vice-president; K. Wright, secretary-treasurer.

A letter from Hydro-Pete Oils, Limited, was read regarding a refinery to be erected in Three Hills. The secretary was instructed to write the company requesting their representative to be present at the next regular meeting in December. A committee was appointed to interview E. P. Foster, M.L.A., about gravelling the road from Olds to Red Deer.

TROCHU

WOMEN HOLD CHICKEN SHOOT

By C. BRUDER

"The lights went out" . . . . . There was shooting in the mining camp Friday night but not of the saloon variety of Dawson of '98. It was at a chicken shoot in the Aroura Hall where contestants matched abilities with the .22 that a woman shot the lights out while a second punctured the roof. Whether the former lady was annoyed with the competition, disliked the prizes or was just indifferent to the sponsor's observation, "Sorry madam, but you've the wrong eye closed," was not ascertained.

All the shooting, however, was not directed at the ceiling or the lights and winners carried off seventy-five chickens during the event. This was Goldfields' first shoot and it was successful and exciting. The price was two-bits a shot, five to a target, this netted the owner $1.25 per for his chickens. The birds were reared locally being flown to the camp as baby chicks last spring.

LLOYDMINSTER

Speaking to the Lloydminster Board of Trade at their regular dinner meeting on the subject, "Progress at the Lloydminster Public School Since 1925" Mr. C. E. Avery, the principal, gave a vivid and interesting account of the development of education of the children between the ages of 6 and 14.

Following the lecture Mr. Avery gave a practical demonstration of the value of the new Bulopticon, recently added to the equipment of the school. On the screen he gave a sample of the lessons that are taught by visual methods with the use of this machine, using lantern slides supplied by the department of extension of the University of Alberta.

He also demonstrated its use in the enlarging and projecting of the work of the students on the screen, using opaque objects such as pages of scribblers and portions of drawing books. Picture postcards, materials, and any article at all is projected on to the enlarged screen.

Mr. Blair, music teacher, also gave a demonstration of music teaching. Twenty girls from the school were in attendance and with their aid he demonstrated the singing lessons of the various grades, showing each step forward to the final four part singing. A vocal solo by Miss Audrey Huxley and a solo and tap dance by Sylvia Simmon also added interest to the meeting. Giving a practical demonstration Mr. Blair taught the girls a new song right at the meeting with the aid of a chart and piano.

COLD LAKE

Under the auspices of the United Church a successful concert was held in Pilon's Hall. The concert was a great success due to the efforts of W. T. Winchester.

Two humorous plays, several children's choruses, a comic song by Mr. Winchester, two duets, a piano duet by Miss M. and Mr. A. Jones and other items made up the program.

A large crowd attended and the concert was one of the best yet held here.

OPAL

Election returns of the large school unit are as follows: Mr. Hornigold; Mr. Stimpley. Egremont: Mr. Tkachuk, McKinley School; Mr. Tatton, Fairydell. Mike Tkachuk won the trustee's seat. There were sixteen seats in this large Sturgeon unit.

TROCHU

At the annual meeting of the Didsbury constituency the following were elected as the executive of the Social Credit group: M. Webber, Didsbury, president; W. A. Braesieu, Carbon, vice-president; H. Hammel of Carstairs, second vice-president; A. Wheeler, Acme, secretary-treasurer.

VIKING

The Norwegian Lutheran church choir gave a sacred concert here under the leadership of Mrs. S. Lefsrud. This organization has made good progress after being organized for two years and they expect to broadcast from Edmonton the early part of next year.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

There has been a request that I take up the problem of what to do for those who have been told there is nothing organically wrong with them, but who are so bothered by persistent tiredness that they do not get the fun out of life which is coming to them.

The symptoms associated with tiredness depend largely upon the individual and his way of reacting to events, but the following are common: loss of interest in work or play; troubled sleep; a tendency to be snappish or peevish; a lessening of the ability to keep the mind concentrated on one task; loss of efficiency and alertness; and a general feeling of being unable to take care of problems as they arise. There is also usually an increase in the tendency to worry and a feeling of great discouragement.

Of course each person has his own definition of what tiredness means, but in general we may say that to be conscious of being tired is to be conscious of lacking that normal feeling of strength and vigor which makes us feel full of pep and glad to be alive.

A more technical definition of fatigue is that it is a condition of tiredness resulting from the processes of recovery failing to keep up with the processes of activity.

The word activity used in this sense covers a great deal of territory. For example when we are working hard with the muscles there is a state of muscular activity. When we are nervously tensed we are burning up a great deal of nervous energy and are in a state of nervous activity. Likewise, when we are doing brain work, there is mental activity. All of these use up energy in one way or another and when we are using up energy faster than the forces of the body are replacing it, we finally arrive at a point where we are out of balance and tiredness is the result.

I doubt if there could be any persistent tiredness without our being out of balance in some way. Most of those who are continually tired will be found to be out of balance in one or more of the following ways: first they may be eating incorrectly, using from two to three times as much heavy food as the body could possibly assimilate and turn into good healthy tissue. Eating too much, or eating the wrong things, is a potent cause of tiredness. I thoroughly agree with Professor McCollum when he advises the tired person to watch his diet.

Second, a person may be tired because of faulty elimination. A body poisoned by its own waste products which have been unduly retained will sooner or later become tired.

Third, under-exercise is a very common cause of tiredness. Those complaining the most of persistent fatigue are those who do not exercise.

Fourth, inharmonious mental states are conductive to fatigue. Wrong mental conditions have the power to produce toxic states of the body. If your day has been a hard one mentally or emotionally, you may be sure that when night comes you will be tired and toxic from the effects of such mental poisoning. When this mental cause is the chief one at work, the patient will be able to overcome his persistent tiredness only when he is willing to pay the price of stopping his destructive mental gymnastics.

In tomorrow's article I will go on with the discussion of how to cure that tired feeling. Look for it in this newspaper tomorrow.

Test of Elks

Sport Minded

Odds and Ends

TONIGHT Edmonton hockey fans will get some idea of what Coach Frank Coulson has in his new Olds Elks when the southern club tangles with the Eskimos at the Arena here. The starting whistle is due to be tooted by Duke Keats at 8:30 p.m. Pete Rule will be the other whistle man. It is a regular Alberta Senior League fixture.

Tony Savage gave Olds a club last season that won respect all around the loop. Most of that machine has been scrapped or lost however and what sort of outfit Coulson has assembled for this season is one of the big question marks in Alberta senior hockey. Tonight's game will be the first that the Elks have played and the entire province will be watching the result with keen interest. The Esks have already shown that they are the makings of a pretty fair club.

While Olds has had no games, the players should be in good condition for they have been training on artificial ice here and natural ice at home for something like five weeks. Coulson worked the team out at the Arena here Monday night and the club looked as if it will be a full-sized assignment for the Eskimos.

Their Majesties Are Sport-Minded

THERE should be no trouble at all in having Their Majesties, the King and Queen, watch a Grad game during the course of their visit to Edmonton. His Majesty has already expressed a keen desire to see a baseball and lacrosse game while in Canada. He is an ardent sportsman and no doubt will accept the Grad invitation with genuine pleasure.

Toronto is now making arrangements to have Their Majesties see an International League baseball game as part of the entertainment program for the Queen City.

New Pro Ball Loop Is Mooted

DAN HOWLEY of the Toronto Leafs, the ones that play baseball, announces that plans are underway to launch a new class D pro league this coming season as a farm circuit for International League clubs. Hamilton and St. Catherines are mentioned as possible entries along with several cities on the U.S. side of the border. The proposed league will be decided on at meeting in New Orleans early in the new year.

Just Sniping Here and There

WINNIPEG will offer the richest event for three-year-olds in Canada when the spring of 1941 rolls around—the Canadian Derby with a purse for the winner that should be around the $6,000 mark. This event will replace the Manitoba Derby. Entries for the Canadian Derby are now being solicited, 1938 foals being eligible. Total entry fees will be $100 per nag—$5 with original entry form, $10.00 more payable April 1, 1941 and $85.00 payable before the race.

Here's a new high in high pressure press agency. The story has been handed out that Joe Louis spends no less than $25,000 per annum in sending autographed photos to admirers. I'll counter that one with the persistent rumor off the fistic grapevine that Champion Joe's contract with Mike Jacobs does not net him much more than $25,000 a year all told.

New York sport pages are carrying reports that Torchy Peden may retire from the nutty six-day bike racing business at the end of this season. When he was here last summer, Torchy told me his retirement date would depend on how he stacked up in the win and lost column. "I'll stick with it as long as I can win my share of races, but the minute I figure I'm definitely on the down grade, I'm pulling out of the screwy business," he explained.

Madison Square Garden is sold out again for the Ice Follies which open tonight—a fancy skating extravaganza that has Gotham ga-ga. You can gauge the degree of this ga-ga state by the fact that all box seats were sold by the Garden at the regular price and then resold at $100 each, the difference going to aid unemployed musicians.

German Riders Dominate Bike Grind at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 30.—German riders dominated the international six day bike race last night after a wild series of sprints which left two teams tied for the leader.

Gustav Kilian, German ace, and his American partner, Bobby Thomas, were tied for first with Heinz Vopel and Ewald, Wissel, all German duo, shortly before midnight last night.

Gerard Debaets and Jerry Rodman, who shared the lead with Kilian and Thomas during the first day's riding, were unable to meet the constant challenges from the field last night and faded into a tie for second place with four other teams.

Six Teams Accept Bowl Invitations

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The post-season bootball market did a thriving business Tuesday when six top teams announced acceptance of invitations to play in four intersectional "bowl" contests January 2. Acceptances followed closely on selection of Duke and Southern California Tuesday as rivals for the Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena, Cal.

Latest additions to the list of "bowl" combatants were: Texas Christian and Carnegie Tech, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans; Tennessee and Oklahoma, Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.; Texas Tech, with no rival named as yet for the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex., and New Mexico, also looking for an opponent for the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Texas.

New Haven Star Up With Canadiens

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—Cecil Hart, manager of Montreal Canadiens, announced last night Don Willson will be brought from New Haven for the National Hockey League fixture here Thursday night against Boston Bruins.

Top Scorer

Bob Cifers, shown passing, leads the nation's schoolboy scorers. Cifers, 18-year-old, 185-pound Kingsport, Tenn., High School triple-threat, scored 33 points in Kingsport's 41-0 victory over Bristol to swell his total to 213 points and eclipse by two the 1937 top figure compiled by Bill DeCorrevont of Chicago's Austin High. Cifers has gained 1976 yards from scrimmage in nine games. Kingsport still has two games to play.

Californians Rout Alberta Varsity by 6-0

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Southern California pucksters defeated the University of Alberta here last night 6-0 to take a clean sweep of the two-game hockey series.

Neither team was able to score in the first period but in the second, Benny Novicki tallied on an assist from Fergus Rowland after 7 minutes, 58 seconds of the second canto.

EX-EDMONTONIANS STAR

The other five Trojan goals were scored in the final period, Novicki shooting the puck into the cage unassisted after one minute, 47 seconds. Dick Tougas followed with another score on an assist from Eric Beauchamp in 3 minutes, 53 seconds, and Beauchamp tallied after 17 minutes, 45 seconds on a double assist from Stu King and Bev North.

Babe Schaller added another goal on an assist from Novicki after 19 minutes, 17 seconds and Wilbur Lenox scored the final point unassisted in 19 minutes, 34 seconds.

Montreal Sends Hopes To Dales

MONTREAL, Nov. 30.—Pending further efforts to raise a partial guarantee towards Regina Dales' expenses in coming east, Westmount has wired the western champions not to consider a match for the Dominion junior football crown "definitely off," Coach Andy McGillis of the eastern champions said last night.

Officials of the club Monday had informed Dales that it was impossible to send their team west and that they could offer no guarantee towards Dales' expenses in coming here.

GAME BANNED

ROTTERDAM, Nov. 30.—Mayor Pieter Jan Oud Tuesday banned a soccer match between Netherlands and German teams, scheduled to be played here December 11, because of fears of political demonstrations.

Governors Change Split Playoff Pool

Frank Calder Visions Top Team Possibly Splitting $23,000 or $25,000 Among Players from Playoffs

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Governors of the National Hockey League Tuesday authorized a change in allocation of gate receipts accruing to the players' pool in Stanley cup games to increase the reward for teams finishing first in the league schedule and cup play.

Frank Calder of Montreal, league president, said he thought that under the new pool division, a club which managed to win both the N.H.L. championship and the Stanley cup might divide as much as $23,000 or $25,000 among its players.

The governors, at their monthly meeting, decided to divide the players' pool into two equal sections, one to be divided among the top six clubs of the seven-club loop on a percentage basis in relation to their final league standing.

RATIO UNDECIDED

The remaining half of the pool will be divided among clubs participating in the Stanley cup playoffs in ratios yet to be worked out but based, of course, on the order of finish in the various cup series.

It was also agreed insurance be obtained on the lives of all players to insure against death from injuries that might be received on the ice. This, Mr. Calder pointed out, would obviate the necessity of all-star games for benefit purposes. He said the dependents of any player who died from hockey injuries would be the beneficiaries of such insurance.

Blanket Life Insurance in Effect Despite Fact No Fatalities Occurred

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—The National League's blanket life-insurance policy of hockey players goes into effect despite the fact no fatality has occurred among big-league players from injuries in N.H.L. history.

Unofficial records show that of 11 hockey fatalities in Canada and the United States since 1906, only one occurred in a game between professional teams. Eddie Baker died at Niagara Falls, Ont., in 1925 after a game in the old Canadian league between Buffalo and Niagara Falls. He suffered head injuries in a fall on the ice.

Jerry Connell of the Syracuse Stars of the International-American League, died six days ago, apparently from a heart attack the day after a game.

Ace Bailey, Toronto Maple Leafs forward, lay on the brink of death with a fractured skull after being bodychecked to the ice by Eddie Shore at Boston, December 12, 1934. Bailey has not played hockey since, but his recovery was complete. He coaches the University of Toronto hockey team.

A broken leg suffered in a hockey game in Montreal was a contributing factor in the death of Howie Morenz, stellar centre of Montreal Canadiens, March 8, 1937.

Jap Ju-Jitsu Ace Meets His Match in Geo. Hartay

Toshi Kodiaki, Japanese ju-jitsu ace last week was a happy, triumphant little Jap grappler as he ju-jitsued his way to a two fall triumph over Jack Eku. This Friday Kodiaki meets a wrestler favored as his equal when he runs smack up against George Hartay the speedy and clever Hungarian wrestler. It is promoter Mike Cutcher's feature main event attraction at the Memorial Hall this week.

Jackets will be used again and the same rules of give in to your opponent or be unconscious will be in vogue. But the wily little Japanese may be in for a surprise package in the form of a bundle of classy wrestling talent for Hartay is just that.

Hartay to date has met and defeated most of the highly rated wrestlers tossed against him. He has won the acclaim of many wrestling fans with his special hold, the flying head spinner. Hartay's wrestling cleverness and his speed are two factors that make him a favorite to whip the Japanese. Also that flying head spinner has proven a lethal hold. No wrestler has really survived Hartay's special hold. In many of his bouts Hartay has won straight falls via the head spinner and he is confident that it may prove the antidote in trimming the Jap.

Rounding out a good card will be King Kong Clayton with all his powerful strength against Rough House Ross in a semi-windup. Ross is comparatively a newcomer to the Edmonton mat. He gave a short but robust appearance last week and with longer time limit and against better talent he is expected to show even more colorful.

To start things off, Promoter Cutcher has signed Eddie Barker to meet Elvin Sams in a preliminary timed for 9:00 p.m. Sams hails from St. Louis and is rated among the best.

Zuppke Is Happy When Resignation Is Not Accepted

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Robert C. Zuppke, dean of western United States conference football coaches, was "reinstated" as head gridiron mentor at the University's board of trustees.

In a series of rapid-fire developments as tricky as some of the 59-year-old coach's famous plays, the board refused to accept Zuppke's resignation, which he had handed the school's athletic board only 24 hours previously.

That was all, but it was enough to bring from Zuppke, in his home at Champaign, Ill., the blurted comment: "That's good! You mean I'm still in? Why, I've been telling everyone I'm out. I'm happy. It's all right now."

Montreal Fighter In Grave Danger Following Battle

QUEBEC, Nov. 30.—The ring injury that sent George (Young) Warner to hospital unconscious after a boxing bout Monday night was diagnosed as a fractured skull and doctors said the 28-year-old bantamweight's condition was "very grave."

Attending physicians said the Quebec City fighter, knocked out by Leopold (Young) St. Laurent of Quebec, had regained consciousness only for "brief spells" since he was carried from the ring after the knockout in the third round of the scheduled six-round bout.

Warner, a promising amateur, was making his professional debut.

TIGER FOX EARNS SHOT AT LIGHT-HEAVY CROWN

Spokane Battler Outpoints Al Gainer

Fox Qualifies to Meet Melio Bettina for New York State's Version of Light-heavyweight Title

NEW YORK, Nov. 30. — Tiger Jack Fox, long-armed walloper from Spokane, gained a shot at the light-heavyweight championship last night by outpointing Al Gainer of New Haven, Conn., in 15 dull, mauling rounds at the Bronx Coliseum. Fox weighed 174½; Gainer 171.

The west coast clouter, a wide open target but one of the fastest punchers seen in the 175-pound ranks in years, belted his Negro rival with enough hooks from each hand to win by a convincing margin.

By the victory, Fox survives the first elimination in the series of two bouts ordered by the State Athletic Commission to name a light-heavyweight champion. He now qualifies to meet Melio Bettina of Beacon, N.Y., for the title, the winner succeeding John Henry Lewis, whose crown was vacated by the local fistic fathers some time ago after he failed to accept a challenge from Fox.

LARGE CROWD

A near capacity crowd of 10,040 who contributed to a gross gate of $6,386.80, greeted the verdict with mingled boos and cheers, but the Spokane slugger held a clear margin at the end. The Associated Press score card gave him seven rounds, with four for Gainer and four even.

It seemed any time Fox got ready to throw his right hook, he could connect with Gainer, who recently was outpointed by Lewis in a title tilt in New Haven. The victory came as revenge for a 15-round verdict Fox dropped to Gainer a year ago.

Jimmy McLarnin Has Different Idea

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30—Promoter Mike Jacobs may think Jimmy McLarnin is a probable opponent for Henry Armstrong, but Jimmy doesn't think so.

"For the 1000th time, I'll never fight again," the one-time welterweight champion said when told Jacobs was considering an Armstrong-McLarnin fight.

LAST WEDNESDAY'S QUESTIONS

Question 40: Both sides vulnerable. You are South. You deal and hold:

♠Q1085 ♥AK10862 ♦73 ♣4

What call do you make?

Answer: You should bid one heart. You are a shade under the 2½ honor trick requirements, but your excellent distribution (strength in both major suits) makes an opening bid imperative. Your partner may have far less than the requirements for an opening bid, yet there may be an excellent play for game in hearts or spades (Twelve points demerit for passing; 24 points demerit for any other bid.)

Question 41: Only East-West are vulnerable. North-South have 40 part score. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 diam.	Pass	2 clubs	2 spades

You are South and hold:

♠1063 ♥AQ9 ♦KQJ98 ♣62

What call do you make and why?

Answer: You should pass. It is true that a mere three diamond bid, if fulfilled, would give you game, but your partner knows the score as well as you do and he may choose to double two spades for penalties. It is quite possible that East, even though vulnerable, stretched his bid to stop a game. If he did, and your partner can double, your holding and distribution should aid toward a very large penalty. You must not deprive North of the opportunity to double if his hand warrants. (Twenty points demerit for any bid.)

"Dear Mr. Culbertson. Here is a peculiar hand that actually occurred in a snappy fiftieth of a cent game. I call the play in question the super super safety play. Maybe you will laugh at the play I made; maybe you will say that I am a typical Casper Milquetoast; but nevertheless I like the play and I'm very proud of it.

"I was South, declarer at a three no trump contract. West opened the deuce of diamonds, dummy played low, and East put up the ten. I could see all sorts of end plays looming up against the opponents. I could guess one of three finesses for my ninth trick. Oh, I could do a lot of things, but every one of them might turn out badly. I therefore made what I think the super safety play and allowed East to hold the first diamond trick! If West's lead of the deuce was honest, then East had no more diamonds to return. A lead of any of the other three suits would provide my ninth trick. And not only that, I would boast of an end play on the first trick.

"What do you think of it? Proudly yours, Mrs. A. J. L., Memphis, Tenn."

Very neat! I think the City of Memphis should appoint you correspondent to the city safety council.

NOSE-PRINTING COWS STILL IN ITS INFANCY

TORONTO, Nov. 30. — Toronto livestock dealers have not considered nose-printing cows as a means of identification, they said today in commenting on recent reports such a system was under consideration in Saskatchewan. Dealers said cattle shipped here from western Canada was identified in carload lots and by scissor marks on the hide.

Scona Gridders Prep for Battle, Lethbridge High

With the provincial high school play-offs definitely set for Saturday, the Scona squad have once more dragged their equipment out of the moth balls and are down to serious training so as to be ready to put up a great fight for the title. There is no lack of enthusiasm being shown by the team and when Cyril Burchell held a chalk talk last night there was a full turnout of footballers rarin' to go. From now until Saturday the Northern Champs will practice twice daily and they should be right at their peak for the encounter.

The one thing that is bothering club officials at this time is the kind of support they can expect. The expenses involved in staging such a play-off will be quite high and in order to cover some of this cost a good crowd of spectators will have to be on hand. Certainly the brand of football that will be dished up will be good and everything points to a bang up contest.

It is to be hoped that the rugby fans of this city will get solidly behind Strathcona who are trying to bring the championship, which has eluded us for quite some time, to this fair metropolis.

RUMANIA MOVES TO STAMP OUT FASCIST THREAT

BUCHAREST, Nov. 30.—The Rumanian government Tuesday arrested a girl and 10 men in an effort to stamp out the Fascist Iron Guard, members of which are suspected of trying to assassinate a former state secretary of education.

Bucharest officials said the shooting and wounding Monday of Flory Stefanescu, rector of Cluj University and former state secretary of education, was a challenge that must be answered with extinction of the Iron Guard.

Evidence King Carol himself was taking a hand was seen in a royal decree ousting General Ion Antonescu as commander of the Third Army Corps. He testified for Corneliu Cordreanu, Iron Guard leader sentenced to serve 10 years for treason last spring.

Community Hockey Loops Will Join A.H.A.

Highlight of the Community Leagues Hockey meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. last night was the decision to affiliate all midget and juvenile teams with the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association. The decision to affiliate was taken after a discussion of the very definite advantages as explained by Barney Stanley.

The principal reason for the departure was that community hockey is producing players of an increasingly high standard and that many of these players are finding their way into the ranks of organized hockey. Affiliation will, it was felt, tend to keep these players in community hockey, while at the same time the possibility of taking part in city and provincial play-offs will prove an incentive to all players in community hockey.

BITTER FIGHT IN WINDSOR'S MAYORAL RACE

Campaign Resolves Largely Into Battle Between Croll, Wigle

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 30—Windsor's mayoralty campaign, bitterest in years, has resolved itself largely into a battle between the personalities of two men. Side issues, but nevertheless large ones, are a five-cent trolley fare and Windsor's emancipation from financial control by the provincial government.

The personalities are:

Mayor E. S. Wigle, 79-year-old titular head of one of the border's oldest families, honorary lay chancellor of the Anglican diocese of Huron, who has more vigor and zest for battle, physical and oral, than most men at 50.

David Croll, only 37, Russian Jewish immigrant lad who financed a law education with a newsstand, was Windsor's mayor at 30, a provincial minister a few years later.

THIRD CONTESTANT

Also in the contest, but believed unlikely to poll a large vote, is Roy Haight, 38, formerly an auditor with a firm that audited the books of the municipal corporation. His campaign is a criticism of the municipal administration.

In 1905, when he was 46, Wigle became mayor of Windsor. He served five years, a record, and retired though offered an acclamation for a sixth term.

ARDENT IMPERIALIST

During the Great War, Col. Wigle raised a battalion and took it overseas. An ardent Imperialist, he expresses his views frankly and without reserve.

Croll was born in Moscow and came to Windsor in 1906, two years after his father. He shined shoes, he sold papers. He established a sidewalk newsstand that became a gold mine.

MINISTER OF WELFARE

After serving two terms as mayor, Croll plunged into provincial politics as a Liberal. In Premier Hepburn's cabinet he became minister of welfare, labor and municipal affairs.

The Windsor member was regarded as a right bower to the Premier until came the General Motors strike at Oshawa in April, 1937. Mr. Croll construed the attitude of Premier Hepburn as favoring the corporation. He resigned determined, he wrote to the Premier, to "march with the workers instead of riding with General Motors."

Duce-Pirow Talk Over Colony Muddle

OSWALD PIROW

British United Press

ROME, Nov. 30. — Oswald Pirow, defense minister of the Union of South Africa, is conferring with Premier Benito Mussolini on Italy's and Germany's colonial problems.

Pirow presumably presented his plan for satisfying the colonial demands of Germany.

Diplomats said he failed to arouse any enthusiasm in Adolf Hitler last week for his plan which reportedly would give Germany part of the Cameroons, French Congo and West Africa.

Italian colonial circles believed Hitler was not interested in any colonial readjustment which failed to include Tanganyika, and German East Africa.

The possibility that Italy might reach a trade agreement with South Africa was voiced in some quarters.

FEDERAL HOUSE SESSION WILL OPEN JAN. 12

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced last night the government had chosen Jan. 12 for opening the next session of parliament.

This date, he said at a press conference following a cabinet meeting, had been considered most suitable having regard to convenience of members coming from a long distance, and to the desire of the government to have its legislative program ready.

ONTARIO SEEKS RELIEF INCREASE FROM OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—The Ontario government has served notice on the Federal government that as from Jan. 1 it will contribute dollar for dollar with the Federal authorities for relief costs in the province. This means that unless the Dominion's present grant to Ontario of $465,000 a month is increased the municipalities will have to bear a larger share of relief costs.

Good Record

YARMOUTH, N.S., Nov. 30.—Out of more than 2,400 head of cattle in Yarmouth County tested by veterinaries for tuberculosis, only three animals were found to be reactors.

CURRENCY VITAL PROBLEM ROYAL COMMISSION TOLD

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—International collaboration in currency matters has become as obvious a necessity as collaboration in tariffs, Prof. Alvin H. Hansen, of Harvard university, asserted Tuesday before the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations.

Unless some understanding were reached on monetary policy, international equilibrium could not be maintained except by nations defending their positions by continued use of equalization funds.

Dr. Hansen pointed to lessons to be learned from Canada's rigid maintenance of its currency in the early years of the depression. "Currency re-alignment" in keeping with the circumstances would have avoided much of the difficulty suffered in Canada, especially by primary producers, from the time Britain went off the gold standard in September, 1931, to March, 1933.

In the last 10 years, world public opinion had accepted a new monetary morality, he said, which aimed at both internal and external balance.

JASPER CLAIMS P. O. BUILDING IS INADEQUATE

JASPER, Nov. 30.—Various organizations and individuals are protesting the erection of the $20,000 post office in Jasper Park, contending the building is inadequate. The Jasper Park Chamber of Commerce recently sent a resolution to the minister of mines and resources, director of national parks and others urging upon the federal government in the strongest terms the necessity for the erection of a new building for the accommodation of the administration offices, post office and other government services in keeping with the natural beauty and attractiveness of the park, and asking for the appropriation of an additional sum to ensure the erection of such a building.

It is suggested that the building now in use be renovated and converted into a publicity or tourist bureau and museum, or removed for construction of a complete administration building on this site.

Man Is Convicted Defrauding People And City Relief

WINNIPEG, Nov. 30—John H. Nikkel, correspondence school chemist, who last spring established a laboratory here for the manufacture of cosmetics and lotions, Tuesday was sentenced by Judge H. W. Whitla to nine months in jail for obtaining money by false pretenses.

Nikkel was convicted of defrauding the city relief department of $280.23 in groceries and $80 in rent and also of defrauding four persons of $376 which he took from them as salesmen's bonds or loans.

His victims testified they gave Nikkel the money following promises of work in his plant, the Nikkel Scientific Laboratory, or a promise of a share in the business. They said there was no work nor did they receive their money back.

Britain Will Not Control News

LONDON, Nov. 30—The government has no intention of establishing a propaganda department or controlling news. Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons last night.

Liquor Store Burns

FLIN FLON, Man., Nov. 30—Fire last night gutted the building occupied by the Manitoba Government Liquor Commission and National Fruit Company, causing a total loss believed in excess of $10,000. The fire is believed to have started from defective wiring in the ceiling on the bottom floor.

EDEN FAVORS REARMAMENTS ON BIG SCALE

Urges Strong Military Defence To Cope With Rival Nations

LONDON, Nov. 30. — Anthony Eden advocated last night urgent rearmament for the defence of democratic ideals against the power of totalitarian states. Partial rearmament was useless, he declared.

"It is useless to deny the formidable strength of the forces that confront us, the strategic strength of the concentration of power that is the totalitarian state," the former foreign secretary declared in an address before a London meeting of the League of Nations union.

"We must seek to meet this with all the resources of our vitality, not by copying methods of others but by a more inspired use of our own."

THREE-FOLD PROGRAM

He outlined a three-fold program embracing a united foreign policy, vigorous rearmament and making "freedom and democracy a practical, living thing."

"We now live in conditions in which three powerful states (Germany, Italy and Japan) have accepted the doctrine of force as the inspiration of national policy, in which Great Britain, France and now even the states of the American continent are compelled to build up huge armaments to be in a position to defend their own liberties," he said.

"Even if we avoid the calamity of a general war we are likely to endure further shocks.

"We would all of us much prefer an international agreement for the limitation of armaments.

"But until there is concrete evidence that it is attainable our own national efforts must inevitably be concentrated upon the most intense and rapid program of rearmament.

"In this we cannot go too far or too fast."

Mr. Eden condemned partial rearmament as being "provocative without being effective" and said "only when it is universally recognized that force cannot prevail shall we be able to rebuild the structure of international peace."

"It is therefore imperative that we should turn our energies to the building of a stronger and better country and to the development of our heritage, both domestic and colonial," he said.

"Analysis must be thorough and guidance clear. This is no time for muffled directions."

NATIONAL UNITY POSSIBLE

"Is national unity in foreign affairs so difficult to restore?" he asked. "Difficult it may be, but not, I am convinced, impossible. We are all agreed upon the aim—peace. Can we not agree upon the method?"

It was one of his last speeches before sailing to the United States for a visit.

Earlier in the day Mr. Eden denied his American visit held any "political significance," and said he did not plan to visit Canada, but might change his mind on that point. He is to deliver an address in New York Dec. 9.

Pencil-End Rubber Is Removed From Girl's Windpipe

TORONTO, Nov. 30—Physicians at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children last night performed a successful operation on seven-year-old Gladys Colbourne of Mattawa, brought here by taxi from North Bay Tuesday for removal of a rubber pencil-end she swallowed while at play. Gladys will remain in hospital under observation for a few days. The rubber lodged in the windpipe just above the lung Saturday.

21,000 Volunteers

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A total of 21,000 volunteers have responded to Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood's appeal for 31,000 recruits for the Royal Air Force before March 31, 1939.

GRANNY SHAW IS HIGHLIGHT OF ROUND-UP

CALGARY, Nov. 30—"Granny" Shaw, 92-year-old pioneer of the Midnapore district was the highlight of the 18th annual round-up of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association and the Southern Alberta Women Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association, as she treddled away at the spinning wheel to the accompaniment of 500 voices singing "The Old Spinning Wheel," here last night.

Granny has not missed a single round-up in the last 18 years and promised to be back again next year.

Lieutenant - Governor J. C. Bowen, guest speaker, emphasized that the freedom which had been established by the pioneer settlers of the west, "is the breath of life to us gathered in this banquet hall."

While dictators were usurping the freedom of many people in other lands, the lieutenant-governor expressed his appreciation of the freedom in Canada and said, "It shall never be otherwise, please God, in this great, free Canada of ours."

COUNTRY STORE SALES HIGHER IN ALBERTA

OTTAWA, Nov. 30—Lower prices for farm products resulting in decreased agricultural cash income were reflected in country general store sales in Canada for October, which average eight per cent lower than in October, 1937, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Declines below October last year were greatest in the Maritimes, Ontario and Manitoba. Manitoba sales were down 17 per cent while those of the Maritimes and Ontario suffered losses of 14 per cent. Sales in Quebec were down seven per cent. Saskatchewan, six, and British Columbia five. Alberta showed the only increase amounting to six per cent.

C. C. F. LEADER DEFENDS PARTY AGAINST ATTACK

WINNIPEG, Nov. 30. — J. S. Woodsworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, commenting last night on a statement in Montreal by Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve that C.C.F. principles were "practically the same as the Communistic program," said the Cardinal had been misinformed.

"We have actually been strongly opposed by the Communists in several elections," Mr. Woodsworth said.

"Modern Communists have thought largely in terms of Russia. The C.C.F. believes in bringing about economic changes through constitutional means and believes thoroughly in democracy. It is thinking entirely in terms of the Canadian scene.

"We have never opposed religion. Many of the people in our movement are actual ministers of the gospel.

"We are not totalitarians. We believe very strongly in the co-operative principle and further we do not believe in the abolition of personal private property. But we consider that what ought to be public property has frequently become private or corporation property.

"We are against monopoly. We believe in extension of public ownership in those realms where monopoly is coming into control."

ALBERTA DEBT LAWS STRIKE CREDIT ROOT

Dominion Legislation Sufficiently Protects Debtors, Says McLaws

CALGARY, Nov. 30.—W. H. McLaws, K.C., of Calgary, last night stated that Alberta's debt legislation strikes at the root of credit, most important part of the capitalist system. Debt legislation, he asserted, was based on the mistaken point of view that if times were normal, all those protected by it would be able to pay their debts. Furthermore, provincial legislation was unnecessary since debtors already are protected by dominion laws, he said.

In an address to the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, Limited, Calgary section, Mr. McLaws praised those who at confederation put commerce exclusively under federal control. "They realized it must not be disrupted by any local or provincial movement and they knew there would be attacks on federal control of commerce.

While he doubted that any change of government would result in debt legislation elimination, Mr. McLaws said he believed such legislation had reached a peak and will start to recede.

CREDITORS NEED PROTECTION

Debt legislation struck at the roots of the capitalistic system because "bankruptcy proceedings always have been necessary, even in boom years," he said. "A large number of people cannot make a success under any conditions. The fact they are unable to pay is not in all cases due to any special circumstance. The law must provide a means of reasonable protection for the creditor."

However, many Albertans are paying their debts despite debt legislation and "they recognize that only by paying of honest obligations can civilization continue."

Alberta Farmers Fail by Narrow Margin to Drive Car Over Monkman Pass

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30.—Two Alberta Peace River residents who attempted to drive an automobile through the Monkman Pass to Vancouver early this month told Tuesday how they had been forced to abandon their car almost within sight of an easy road to Vancouver.

But Art M. Smith, Wembley seed grower, and Alex Watt, 24-year-old Beaver Lodge farmer, expressed confidence the Monkman Pass highway, now partially completed by voluntary labor, would be finished. The route would provide Peace River residents with a direct outlet to the Pacific.

"Even though our car didn't get through this time, we feel that the trip accomplished a good deal," Mr. Smith said on arriving here after hitch-hiking 350 miles from the interior Prince George, B.C., with Watt. "We've been working on that new highway for two years now, and enthusiasm is stronger than ever."

Snow prevented the car from crossing the McGregor river less than 40 miles northwest of Prince George. From that railway centre, the group would have found a good highway to continue on to Vancouver.

Smith will present Mayor G. C. Miller of Vancouver with a sample package of grain from Herman Trelle, former world wheat king, of Wembley.

Watt attributed the success of the "trail-blazing" party to Francis Murphy, leader of the group.

"The crew kept going in the face of everything just because of the example he set us, and he's past middle age," Watt said. "We only gave up when the snow caught us. We had planned to take the car across the McGregor river on a raft, but ice started to block it up, then a heavy fall of snow kept the ice from freezing solid enough to carry the car's weight.

"When Murphy was badly hurt in an accident with his axe, and another of the men was too sick with a cold to work, we left the car on the north bank of the river till next spring. There's no hurry, because whatever happens, that road is going through."

Broomhall

The international market is steady but featureless. Negotiations continue for the sale of a substantial quantity of American hard Pacific wheat to England, but buyers and sellers remain apart. It is hardly likely that the representative will return without effecting a sale to some countries, but up to the time of writing it is impossible to confirm any actual trade. In yesterday's international review it was stated that the Argentine fixed price is 14½ cents under the Canadian fixed price at Fort William for No. 1 Northern wheat. This price is apparently incorrect. It was converted in England and then reconverted to Canadian cents per bushel. The fixed price of seven pesos in the Argentine figures at 59½c Canadian per bushel would be 20½ cents under the Canadian price of 80 cents, according to our recent reckoning which is based on the exchange rate for exporters of 15 pesos to the pound. It appears that the English statistician reckoned the six cent duty against the Argentine wheat which has now been abolished.

CIANO DEMANDS RECOGNITION IN FRENCH TUNISIA

ROME, Nov. 30.—Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano touched off a noisy demonstration today in the Chamber of Deputies for the recognition of Italian interests in Tunisia, French North African protectorate.

He concluded a long review of international events by referring to the necessity of "protecting with inflexible firmness the interests and natural aspirations of the Italian people."

At once the black-uniformed deputies, attending the last session of the 78-year-old Chamber of Deputies, leaped to their feet shouting: "Tunisia! Tunisia!"

(Tunisia—or Tunis—has been a French protectorate since 1881. It lies between the Mediterranean, Algeria and Sahara, and has an area of about 44,920 square miles and a population of about 2,000,000.)

Contrasting with the attitude toward France was applause for Great Britain.

At one point Ciano paused in his summary of the September German-Czechoslovak crisis and the subsequent implementing of the new Anglo-Italian friendship agreement to turn to look up at the Earl of Perth, British ambassador, in the diplomatic box. His gesture was a signal for prolonged cheering. Lord Perth smiled and nodded in acknowledgement.

Co-operative trading activities of the association were praised. This activity, begun two years ago, brought a net profit of $553 last year. Co-operative trading was carried on by only 21 districts.

Play Group Presentation Is Comedy

Edmonton Little Theatre's bid for approval of Edmonton theatre patrons, "Children To Bless You," a play by Sheila Donisthorpe to be presented on the stage of the Empire theatre on Friday evening of this week, is an hilarious comedy and one destined to capture the hearts of all.

ENTERTAINING

Dress rehearsal for the production has been scheduled for Wednesday evening. The play, directed by R. V. Clarke gives cast and director scope for great expression in the field of entertainment . . . its primary motive. It is woven on a theme of life's vagaries but has no deep plot.

Eldest son Guy, played by Art Martin, lives beyond his means, keeps his mother in a state of nervous anxiety, while second son Martin, played by Seymour Bushe, is gay, his chief interest is sport, and his chief worry a Polish girl who is infatuated with him.

Tonie, youngest daughter, is "in everyone's hair," a precocious, 'teen-aged youngster who sees to it that she is never ignored. Ruth Rankin steps into this part.

AUNT STELLA

Aunt Stella, who uses the experience gained with four husbands, to straighten out the wild Lawrences, is played by Doreen Rees.

Others in the cast are Pearson, the maid, played by Dorothy Galloway; Louise, Stella's French maid, played by Marion Conroy; Jennifer, Guy's wife, Alys Davidson; Miss Drake, a manicurist, Doris Harris.

A brief sketch of characters shows Clare Lawrence, motherly, generous, who has made up for her own strict upbringing by allowing her children self-expression without limit. Naomi Lang is Clare.

Audrey, eldest daughter, is sophisticated, independent but blindly infatuated with young novelist Ronnie Trent, whose intentions, to use Aunt Stella's expression, "are not even dishonorable." Joan Mortimer and Alan Macdonald play these roles.

Lady In Brocade

Completely in the romantic mood, this lovely creation of cream and gold brocade silk is for very grand occasions. The material is of the type which stands alone, and the gown itself, with full below-elbow-length sleeves, is outstanding in formal frocks that cover arms, back and shoulders. Quite the thing for a supper and dancing date.

the social round . . . . .

QUESTION of debutante parties in New York City is again engaging the attention of fond fathers and mothers, social secretaries, newspaper folk, friends . . . and, of course, the debutantes themselves. Not that they have really very much to do about it all—theirs is to look sweet and charming and so make a graceful entrance into the world of polite society. Interesting findings have come to light from a recent research of the "situation". Fathers will spend approximately $8,000,000 this season, it is estimated to introduce the 1,000 eligible 18-year-old girls in New York and 15 other wealthy cities in the U.S. into the social whirl. Actual cost of the parties will be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 while the cost of the "coming out" year for each deb, exclusive of a mere $3,000 for clothes, will be around $8,500 each.

"It's still a big business," the finding stated, "even if there is very little 'polite society' today into which the girls may be introduced. Society is little more than a stag line of college boys and unemployed young men. Adults, and especially men of the marriage age, or otherwise, have almost completely disappeared from the society into which a girl makes her debut today. They have disappeared because the social game costs time and money."

You Can Look Pretty Despite The Sniffles

By ALICIA HART

Hoping you won't, but if you do catch cold this winter, there are a few things you can do to [illegible] more bearable until you get rid of it.

The best idea, as your doctor will agree, is to go to bed at the very first sign of a cold. If you do this, and stay there, the chances are that you won't be ill for more than a few days. But if, like most of us, you just cannot take to your bed every time you [illegible] a cold coming on, you probably are interested in ways and means of looking a great deal better than you feel during the days when your throat is sore, head [illegible] and [illegible] difficult to breathe [illegible] your nose.

To conceal the fact that your nose is red as a beet and to keep it from being [illegible] use a waterproof foundation [illegible]. There are several of [illegible] on the market. Or perhaps [illegible] find suitable [illegible] that you put on arms, back [illegible] shoulders when [illegible] ning clothes.

If you know that you'll have to use a handkerchief [illegible] cleansing tissues [illegible] away are better than handkerchiefs) about every [illegible] don't use an [illegible] lipstick and expect it to stay on [illegible]. Instead, during [illegible] the most indelible [illegible] have. At night cover your lips with a colorless pomade before going to sleep.

Don't use mascara [illegible] or anything that will draw even more attention to your reddened watery eyes. But don't [illegible] just because you don't feel like bothering to put it on. There's no use in adding to your miseries by looking so pale and wan that too many people offer too much sympathy—not to mention too many suggestions as to what you ought and ought not to do about the cold.

Brush your hair every night to counteract the bad effects the cold is sure to have on it. And don't get a permanent wave until at least two weeks after the cold has disappeared. No operator can be expected to put a really wonderful permanent into hair that is dull, lifeless and stringy.

It is estimated that it is 300 per cent safer to fly in 1938 than it was in 1930. The airline ratio is one fatal accident to every twelve million miles of flying.

JUDY stood very still in the door [illegible] staring at Diane. Her [illegible] "Jack?" once, [illegible] seemed to [illegible].

She was ashamed of herself [illegible] for having fainted while Diane was rigidly self-controlled. But after the relief she had tasted to learn in the end that her heart had been right, was too much for her.

When she came to, her mother was holding a glass to her lips and Diane was standing beside the sofa saying "Poor Judy."

Judy struggled to sit up. Her head felt queer, and a little pit of nausea was whirling in her stomach. But she sat up. She said, "I'm sorry. I won't do that again." Then she asked, "Tell me everything you know about it, Diane."

"I don't know much. Naval Communications passed on the message and someone there must have telephoned Mrs. Hardy. Captain Hardy was the skipper of the Enterprise. His son James was in Communications. But no one said anything, and Diane's voice went on. "She telephoned me. She said there had been an accident. One of the planes was in trouble and hit the water. Another ship of the squadron flew low to render assistance. They—" her voice broke. "They lost a man. They think it's Bill."

Judy said quickly, "You mean it was Bill's ship that went down?"

"I don't know," Diane said.

Mrs. Alcott was staring ahead thoughtfully. "I suppose when your father spoke to the Admiral of the Fleet about Jack, the Admiral naturally realized he was more than merely acquainted with the boy. When this happened he instructed Communications to notify him."

Diane was crying softly and hopelessly now. Her control had broken. But the very quietness of her grief, the fact that she did not cry out or become hysterical, made it even worse. She was feeling this. Deeply. So deeply that rebellious moaning or the futile pounding with fists against the hardness of something concrete could not help her. It was as if her grief were eating its way inward, to her heart.

Judy tried to comfort her. They clung to each other, two girls enmeshed in the same, stark tragedy.

PHILIPPE ROY WELL - KNOWN IN EDMONTON

Retiring Envoy Was Resident Of City From 1898 To 1911

Of special interest to Edmontonians is the announcement Wednesday of the retirement of Hon. Dr. Philippe Roy from his post as Canadian minister to France. For Dr. Roy was a well known and respected figure in this city between the years of 1898 and 1911 when he made it his home.

Born and educated in Quebec, Dr. Roy came to Edmonton at the age of 31, on the advice of Father Lacombe, one of the most famous names in the history of western Canada. When he arrived here the city's population was only 2,500 and there were but six doctors in the district. In Dec., 1899 he was married [illegible] and the late Mr. Young and granddaughter of the late Rev. George McDougall.

FOUNDS PAPER

Besides his medical practice Dr. Roy found time to establish and operate "Le Courier de l'Ouest", first French-Canadian newspaper to be published regularly in the west. He had business interests, too, and besides being president of Jasper Limited he founded a loan and mortgage company.

In 1906 he was appointed to the Senate by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the age of 38. In May 1911 he was appointed commissioner general to France, and moved his home from Edmonton to Paris. During the grim days of the war, when German troops threatened Paris, Dr. Roy and the American ambassador were the only diplomatic representatives in the entire city who did not join the flight southwards.

In 1928 when the Canadian com[illegible] the status of a legation, Dr. Roy was appointed envoy extraordinary [illegible] French Republic.

RAISES FUNDS

In Paris Dr. Roy raised [illegible] establishment of the Canadian House for students at the Cite Universitaire in Paris.

Dr. Roy and his wife will probably make [illegible] next spring, it was learned. Their children are: Philippe Jr. and Robert, who live in Montreal; Mrs. John Southam, in Calgary; Baroness Falkenberg, in Montreal, and Mrs. Alfredo Mojia, San Salvador.

Rules for Firing Furnace

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.— Harassed householders who consider the furnace in the cellar more of a coal-devouring infernal machine than a servant of winter comfort might pay heed to what the Dominion Fuel Board experts say.

They point out furnaces are definitely individualistic and their temperaments have to be studied, but there are certain guiding rules.

A few pointers: keep the ash-pit clean or else the grates will warp or burn out.

Keep a couple of inches of ashes between the fire and grates and in warm weather increase the depth of the layer. This serves to protect the grates and reduce the draft.

Don't overshake or overpoke the fire; generally one shaking a day is sufficient. The poker is to pull clinkers out.

Keep the waterpan on hot air furnaces filled with water, or see that water is evaporated into the atmosphere of the house.

Don't be stingy with the fuel; there should be a bed of about 18 inches for best results.

With hard coal the fuel should be level with the coal door, with coke even more is advisable.

At bedtime, open the drafts a short time until the fire is burning well, add fuel and close drafts and open dampers as in building a fire.

The technique varies a little with the type of fuel used but mostly only in the amount of open draft necessary. All fuels require the little "port hole" in the fire door should be partly open when dampers are open.

DRUMHELLER IS TOURIST POINT FOR THOUSANDS

DRUMHELLER, Nov. 30.—Drumheller Valley, long famed as a mining area, is becoming a popular tourist centre due to its dinosaur graveyard and petrified forest area. City officials said thousands have viewed the geological wonders which are said to date back millions of years, in the past two seasons. Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir and their vice-regal party have been among the visitors.

For its size, Drumheller Valley is one of the richest commercial centres in western Canada with more than three million dollars worth of coal being produced and shipped from the thirty collieries which dot the landscape from Nacmine, six miles west of the city of Drumheller to East Coulee, [illegible]

Drumheller itself is a compact city situated on the flats of the Red Deer river, [illegible] of a rich agricultural area. It has a steam generating plant which serves more than forty communities with light and power.

Dorothy Dix Says:

LISTEN, all of you middle-aged sisters who have lost your husbands or your money or your jobs, and who have sunk down on the do-nothing stool while you wail out that there is nothing a woman can get to do by which she can earn a living after she loses the glamor of youth.

Here is great news for you. Two women prophets have arisen to lead you out of the valley of despair to the green hills of prosperity, and to show you that the door of opportunity is just as wide open to the woman who has lost her figure as it is to a stringbean flapper, if only she has enough energy and enterprise to batter on it.

[illegible] personal sorrows, sickness, breaking banks and business failures that did away with their jobs, refused to believe that woman is automatically down and out when [illegible] ful. So they started out to test by actual experience what a woman can get to do when she is middle-aged by which she can support herself.

And they have written a book about their adventures that they call "We Are Forty and We Did Get Jobs" that is published by the Lippincotts. It is as entertaining as fiction, as full of common sense and practical advice as an egg is of meat, and is so overflowing with the gospel of hope and courage that it should brace up the backbone of the flabbiest feminine whiner, and make her roll up her sleeves and go out and find something to do.

[illegible] men I commend this book. It will [illegible] to look for work and how to find [illegible] dress when looking for a job and [illegible] And it will warn them against the mistake that so many women make of looking gloomy and discouraged and down[illegible] instead of perky and [illegible] And go out and get a job.

ALIBI RUINED BY TELLTALE CLOCK HANDS

An alibi to succeed must be airtight in all its details, it must be foolproof against quizzing of astute barristers and shrewd questioning from presiding judges.

Steve Dulyk, Waugh district resident, came into Edmonton's district court with a first class alibi, but it fell before a simple question from His Honor Judge J. L. Crawford.

Steve's mother was testifying as to the time of a visit to her son's house. She was positive about the time, had checked and double-checked it by looking at the clock, and had rechecked it again when she returned [illegible] dence was accepted by the Court Steve had a cast-iron alibi.

Perjury Trial Is Heard Here

Trial of L. J. Block on a perjury charge opened Tuesday afternoon in supreme court before Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd and a jury. J. W. McClung is prosecuting and Hugh Calais Macdonald K.C., and W. J. Beaumont are acting for the accused.

The charge arises out of evidence given before former Magistrate A. H. Gibson K.C., in a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile in which Block was called as a witness.

The crown closed its case Wednesday at noon in the perjury charge and Mr. Justice Shepherd refused an application by Hugh Calais Macdonald, K.C., that there was no corroboration of the perjury, an essential under the criminal code to sustain a conviction.

SETTLEMENT IS NOW MADE FOR ESTATE CLAIM

Cash settlement was affected by Percy J. Rowe, M.P. for Athabaska, in the $3,500 Supreme court claim against him brought by the executors of the Herman Werley estate. Judgment for $2,600 was given against Mr. Rowe recently in Supreme court chambers. This was the balance owing by Mr. Rowe on the agreement to repay Mr. Werley $3,500 invested in Beverly, Ltd., a co-operative coal mining venture promoted by Mr. Rowe. A guarantee against loss had been given Mr. Werley by salesmen from the company, and this guarantee was assumed by Mr. Rowe.

Mr Rowe was not aware that judgment proceedings had been taken against him as he understood that his obligation to Werley ceased on his death. He had not received notice of the court proceedings to proceed to judgment, his first information being from a news item in The Bulletin that judgment had been granted against him.

A settlement has been reached in the case on the basis that there was doubt as to the validity of the judgment and the continued existence of Werley's claim. The settlement discharges the judgment.

$500,000 IS EXPENDED ON HOTELS HERE

Liquor Control Official Stresses Improvement At Convention

More than $500,000 has been spent in 1938 by hotelmen in Alberta in improvement to hotel buildings, replacement of equipment and making their premises more comfortable and homelike, more sanitary and fireproof to enable the public to enjoy a better hotel service, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board told delegates to the Alberta Hotelmen's Convention in an address Tuesday.

He stated that during the past decade there had been a vast improvement in the type of Alberta's hotelmen; and in their efforts to improve the standard of their service to the public.

Sessions of the convention, voted the most successful in the long history of the association, closed Tuesday evening with the delegates selecting Calgary as the venue for next year's gathering.

OFFICERS

Charles Traunweiser, Calgary, was elected by acclamation for his 11th successive term as president, with J. Stanley Kirkham, Lethbridge, first vice-president and G. W. McLean, Edmonton, second vice-president. W. C. Kehoe, Calgary, was confirmed for his eleventh successive year as supervising secretary of the association.

The following directors were elected: T. Longworth, Calgary; R. W. Wallace, Lethbridge; J. D. Hannan, Camrose; Charles Guterson, Drumheller; J. P. McBride, Lloydminister; Robert McDonald, Edmonton; F. R. Webster, Calgary; J. Swinarton, Macleod; J. A. Weicker, Sexsmith; Stanley M. Walker, Pincher Creek and Gordon Porter, Edmonton.

LEGISLATION

Mr. King outlined the legislation governing the operation of hotels in the province and stated it was the object of the board to see that the act was lived up to and also that hotelkeepers would improve the appearance of their hotels, the service given the public and the precautions taken for the safety and comfort of their guests.

In closing Mr. King stated that public support made the act possible; it is public support that sustains the act and the loss of that support would mean the "black-out" for the licensing system.

CRUSADE

To continue this public support hotelkeepers must continue to crusade for sobriety, safe-driving, respect for law and order and the provision for reasonable comfort and safety for guests and patrons, and "I am happy to say that it is a matter for sincere congratulation that the great majority of Alberta's licensees are doing their best to merit the approval of the public."

Delegates were guests of the association at a luncheon and dance at the Macdonald hotel Tuesday evening.

TOURIST TRADE

Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, addressing the convention Tuesday afternoon, emphasized the necessity for fostering tourist trade in Alberta, and promised that the government would do all in its power to this end by construction of hard-surface highways throughout the province.

Through The Mill

Weather in Edmonton right now is certainly grand, but even the most confirmed optimist will admit that later on in the winter the old ears will be snapping in the cold, and plumes of smoke will be rising in the still, cold air from countless chimneys. And one of the smokiest chimneys will be the one atop the Fort Saskatchewan jail. One destitute man, figuring that he would be better off in a nice, warm jail than out in the cold, cruel world all winter, gave himself up to police Tuesday, asked that he be charged with vagrancy, and that he be put in jail until April 1, 1939. He claimed four previous convictions as reason enough to get him into jail. He is probably hoping the weather warms up a little earlier next spring, however, because the cadi gave him only three months.

Man And Woman Facing Charges Of Panhandling

"Wait a minute, there's some easy money here!" cried a woman to her husband, when he kept walking along 103 street after she had stopped two men Tuesday with a request for money. The remark was overheard by a policeman, however, and the man and woman were arrested and charged with begging.

In police court Wednesday the records of the two accused were read to them, interspersed with pleas by the woman for "a chance," and then the magistrate sentenced the pair to six weeks each in jail. Before the woman left her husband in the dock to go back to the women's cells, she turned back, kissed him fondly in farewell, and then went out with the police matron.

How About It Folks! Is There Really A Santa?

HOW about it, folks? I'm Frank, born June 11 last and unless someone comes along soon I'm going to be out of luck in meeting Santa Claus this year. Sure I'm looking for a real Mummy and a real Daddy.

Frank, born June 11

Someone who knows how to make Christmas bright and happy for a little boy who hasn't had any Christmas before but who will bring the real Christmas spirit into their home.

I'm husky and strong, and you bet I'll grow up to be a real Canadian boy, the sort anyone would be proud of. Give me a chance.

That's all I want, and I know I'll make good. You can get in touch with me by telephoning or calling on Mr. C. B. Hill, Child Placing Officer of the provincial government.

His telephones are 916-258 or 23937.

Give him a ring, won't you? I want to meet you, and I know if we meet you'll want to keep me. And don't forget. The name is Frank.

Fortune-Telling Count Based On Old Statutes Defense Counsel Avers

Jurymen were unable to reach a verdict in the two fortune-telling charges against Madame Fontaine, Edmonton, and were discharged by Mr. Justice Shepherd in supreme court Tuesday. They deliberated for two hours and a half to return and report there was no possibility of agreement.

The charges against Madame Fontaine were "engaging in fortune-telling and pretending by her skill and knowledge in an occult or crafty science to discover where or in what manner goods and chattels supposed to have been stolen or lost might be found."

BRILLIANT ADDRESS

In a brilliant address to the jury Neil D. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the accused, asked for acquittal of his client. He emphasized that the charge was laid on a statute dating back to 1786, statutes ancient and forgotten.

He suggested to the jury it would be doing a public duty if it refused to convict on charges based on such a statute. Such action, he contended, would result in amendments to the law to bring it into conformity with present-day usage.

Mr. Maclean also emphasized that although many fortune tellers operated in Edmonton's tea rooms, Madame Fontaine, an elderly woman who told fortunes to support her family of six and a crippled husband, had been picked on for prosecution.

He stressed that for 18 or 19 years she had been fortune telling in different parts of Alberta, obtaining licenses from municipal authorities where she carried on operations.

PROSECUTOR'S VIEW

J. W. McClung [illegible] stated to the jury it was their duty to arrive at a verdict on the evidence. It was not their concern whether the charge was based on an ancient statute, that was a matter for the parliament of Canada. He said the statute was incorporated in the criminal code in 1892, not in 1786 as indicated by defense counsel, and was placed in the code to prevent imposition on trusting persons and annoyance to the public and expense to the state by fortune tellers.

In this case, continued Mr. McClung, statements of Madame Fontaine in the course of her fortune telling had caused considerable trouble in the Styal district, and had caused the police to examine into numerous groundless clues regarding occurrences in the district.

JUDGE'S OPINION

In his address to the jury Mr. Justice Shepherd was critical of statement of defense counsel that municipal authorities had licensed Madame Fontaine to tell fortunes.

"Municipal authorities cannot issue licenses to any person to commit infractions of the provisions of the criminal code," stated the jurist as he stressed that jurymen had a duty to perform—to render a verdict on the evidence—adding that it should not be difficult to arrive at a verdict on the first charge—that of fortune telling—against the accused.

The Inquiring Reporter

The other afternoon The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter wandered into a downtown theatre salon, but unfortunately for [illegible] the usher crossed him up, for he found himself seated behind a luscious bit of femininity who was wearing one of these feather-topped war-bonnets so popular with the ladies these days.

All the reporter was able to see was snatches of the picture and the profile of that darned feather from about 259,674 different angles. Convinced that this was something that something should be done about, he asked several persons, "Do you think that women should wear large hats in picture shows or similar public gathering places?"

Here are the answers:

PATT TODD, salesman: If they keep this up we will have to revert to the old days of flickerdom when a slide ordered, "Ladies, Remove Your Hats." I've been bothered by 'em myself.

• • •

W. K. CHARTERS, bookkeeper: If the dame hasn't got sense enough or manners enough to take her hat off somebody ought to lean over and biff it off. I've tried it a couple of times and it works swell.

• • •

NANCY GRANVILLE, stenographer: I doubt if the theatre managers approve of women wearing large hats at film performances and maybe a gentle reminder to offenders would eliminate the trouble.

• • •

ANNE KENT, saleslady: I think it is all right to wear your hat if it is not a large one, but I think that women wearing large, tall or feather-equipped hats ought to know better than to wear them in a show—but then I'll admit some women, like a lot of men, haven't much sense.

FRANK CROMWELL, student: I think that they ought to segregate the sexes and make all the women sit one one side of the theatre and all the men on the other. That would solve the problem. Women only wear those hats to attract the attention of the men anyway, and when what they were doing was bothering each other they'll learn to take them off.

VISITOR RAPS DELEGATES AT SYDNEY MEET

F. C. Brown, Vancouver, Says Too Many Professors At Conference

Agreeing with the criticism voiced by Major-General Hon. W. A. Griesbach, K.C., of the personnel of the Canadian delegates to the recent British Commonwealth Relations Conference at Sydney, Australia, F. C. Brown, Vancouver, said here Wednesday in an interview he thought the delegation contained "too many professors and was unrepresentative of this country."

Mr. Brown, immediate past president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, [illegible] of the Vancouver branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs for many years. All Canadians at the Sydney deliberations were Institute members.

General manager of the Canada Western Cordage Co., Ltd., Mr. Brown is here on private business and is a guest at the Macdonald hotel.

TOO MUCH THEORY

"I think some of these professors were top-heavy with theory and [illegible] great majority of Canadians," Mr. Scott said.

"While some of General Griesbach's statements may be extreme, I certainly agree with him that he was right in assuming that at a commonwealth conference he should not have been compelled to defend the ideal of commonwealth solidarity against some of the members of the Canadian delegation."

Recalling that Vancouver Institute members had met in his home months ago to discuss points raised in Professor Frank R. Scott's [illegible] memoranda papers used at the conference and severely criticized by [illegible] it was his impression that the [illegible] his book on the question of Canada and the empire."

SIT ON FENCE

"It's not good enough to have people sit on the fence and say they will help Great Britain and the sister dominions if they choose," Mr. Brown [illegible].

"We are willing to have Britain's trade and the protection of her fleet, but when it comes to us doing our part some of these professors begin talking about looking to the United States and so on, an attitude I believe unrepresentative of Canada".

"When I talked to some of those who had attended the conference I was told that in general an impression of commonwealth solidarity had been created.

NO ANSWER

"But when I asked if the Canadian delegation had left such an impression I could get no [illegible] and definite answer to my question", said Mr. Brown.

"I would like to see this matter get more publicity so that other parts of the Commonwealth may know that the views of men like Professor Scott of McGill University are not representative of the spirit of Canada," he added.

"The great bulk of Institute members do not share Professor Scott's views," he concluded.

Terry Pin's Tips On

READING

Everyone should curl up with a good book once in a while. No matter how good the book is, however, curling the wrong way is hard on the back.

Always pick a poor book to read in a comfortable chair, so when you fall asleep, you miss nothing.

Every library should have plenty of classics. They are usually so heavy they keep the books you do read nice and straight on the shelves.

No one knows who wrote Shakespeare. This is not surprising, since the mails were very undependable in those days.

KLEPTOMANIA IS MOSTLY A MYTH

The idea that some people are born "kleptomaniacs," with an irresistible urge to steal everything they see, is losing credence among psychologists. The tendency to steal is in all of us when we are born, but the trouble usually lies in early childhood training, when people become unable to control their desires to take other people's property. It is a bad habit that has become master of the individual. Proper psychiatric treatment usually can cure such people.
